NAVY SMASHES JAP FLEET IN ROUND TWO OF SEA WAR

TOMORROW TO OPEN GASOLINE REGISTRATION

Those With Names A to G To Report at Schools; Others on Thursday, Friday.

MODIFIES TIRE ORDER

OPA Says Those Who Haven't Turned in Extra Tires Can Fill Out Transfer.

Everyone from Abbe to Gygax, according to the Mansfield city directory who owns a passenger auto or motorcycle will register tomorrow for his or her basic mileage gasoline ration "A" book at one of the city's elementary or grade schools.

In Wednesday's opening registration all persons whose last names begin with letters from A to G inclusive will submit their applications between 2 and 9 p. m.

Likewise, following the directory's name chronology, registration Thursday will be from Haag to Sziraki, or letters H to S inclusive with the same hours prevailing.

Friday's registration will be from Taddeo to Zychick or T to Z inclusive, and at the 2 to 9 p. m. period.

Public school teachers have received their instructions to serve as registrars and have been assigned to the schools where they will receive completed applications. School principals have been assigned as registrars. The same organization has been carried out for Richland county village and rural schools, with the hours generally being from 4 to 8 p. m.

The Madison school district has set up two registration days, Wednesday and Friday with none on Thursday. Registrations will take place at the Woodville, East Mansfield and Lincoln Heights

IN GOOD HEALTH

Rickenbacker Being Treated on Pacific Island.

NEW YORK —(INS)— Capt. Edward V. (Eddie) Rickenbacker is in "very good health" and is being treated on a South Pacific island—but the location is a "military secret" even from his wife.

"I tried to find out where he was with no success but I did find out how he was and that was most important," Mrs. Rickenbacker said today. "I was worried."

She had no direct word from her famed flier husband since he was found by a navy plane after spending 24 days aboard a rubber raft in the Pacific. Capt. Rickenbacker and his crew of seven were forced down when their plane ran out of gas. One of the men, Sgt. Alexander Kaczmarczyk, who was aboard Rickenbacker's raft, died and was buried at sea but all the survivors were given good chances to recover.

PRAISE GENERAL

Allied Leaders Call Action Greatest Combined Move of All Time.

LONDON — (INS) — Allied headquarters in London today announced that a cablegram had been sent to Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower congratulating him for the success of "the greatest combined operation of all time."

The American general, commander-in-chief of the Allied expedition to North Africa, replied that the success o fthe undertaking was due to the "magnificent help and co-operation of the Allied headquarters staff."

SPEAKS TONIGHT

Roosevelt To Address Nation On Creed Of United Nations.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Roosevelt will address the nation tonight at 10:30 o'clock, Eastern War Time.

The president's broadcast will give him an opportunity, if he so chooses, to discuss recent American victories in the Pacific and in the Mediterranean. His announced topic is "The United Nations—Their Creed For a Free World."

Admiral Killed

While acting as commander of a task force opposing Jap naval units seeking to recapture Guadalcanal island, Rear Admiral Daniel J. Callaghan (above) met death. He was naval aide to President Roosevelt from 1938 until April, 1941, when he assumed command of a cruiser. Gallaghan is the third rear admiral to be killed in action since Pearl Harbor.

$155,000 SEEN FOR WAR CHEST

Total Keeps Growing as More Pledges Arrive; $153,754 Received So Far.

Community War Chest headquarters today saw a chance that its fund-raising campaign will reach the $155,000 figure.

With $2,728 more tabulated at headquarters today the total reached $153,754, against a goal of $140,377 with more pledges to come.

Additional contributions included $72.85 from Senior high school, $24.85 from Western school and $3.28 from Bushnell. These figures together with $1,000 more from industry and more than $1,700 from rural sections increased the figure today.

Rural reports included: Lucas, Mrs. H. Steward, major, $41; Lexington, Dr. F. B. Barr, major, $160.25; Butler, Rev. W. A. Hewitt and R. C. Reherd, majors, $116.05; Washington township, partial report, Mrs. S. M. Mishey, major, $12; Monroe township, Mrs. Lloyd Adams, major, $342.

BARBARA BENNET 'JUST RESTING'

Actress Puzzled at 'Fuss' Over Her Disappearance.

HOLLYWOOD —(U.P.)— Barbara Bennett, sister of Actresses Constance and Joan Bennett, said today she couldn't understand "all the fuss" raised over her three-day disappearance.

She said she had gone to a rest home because of the shock suffered over her recent failure to regain custody of her five children from her former husband, Singer Morton Downey.

She was in complete seclusion, she said, and was unaware that rumors of tragedy were circulating.

Her husband, Addison Randall, former cowboy actor, reported to police Saturday that Miss Bennett had failed to return to her home Friday night.

CHIEF CLAMPS DOWN AGAIN ON BINGO GAMES

No Commercial Play To Be Permitted Regardless of 'Fixing,' He Says.

'PLAYTIME' TO CEASE

Bell Declares Only Bona Fide Private Clubs To Operate For Members.

Clamping down another lid on bingo today, Police Chief Thomas M. Bell declared no commercial enterprise of that nature will be permitted, regardless of any claims of "fixing."

He announced this stand after an alleged bingo game operator and the owner of the building housing the 'Playtime" had claimed Saturday night,' on being brought to the police station, that "everything had been fixed upstairs."

The Playtime has been ordered to halt bingo operations, the chief said, and he added that the game operated commercially would not be permitted anywhere else.

The chief declared he was "dumbfounded" Saturday night when Police Captain Jesse Schwab telephoned him and relayed to him the statement of the two men that "everything had been fixed."

However, he said, he advised Schwab not to hold the men or prefer charges against them until he could ascertain exactly what was the status of the situation, since it might have been possible that the Playtime had a club status, which might have allowed members to play.

The chief said he had received no orders to allow any bingo games to operate, and that after considering the situation he was repeating his earlier statement that bingo games would not be allowed to operate.

SHE'S HOME

Mrs. Roosevelt Returns, FDR Meets Her at Airport.

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — Mrs. Roosevelt returned today from her war inspection trip to Great Britain.

The White House disclosed that the president went to an airport near Washington to greet his wife this morning. She began her trip on Oct. 21.

While in England, Mrs. Roosevelt was entertained by the king and queen of England, saw Prime Minister Winston Churchill and visited with American troops in Ireland and other parts of the British Isles.

The White House did not reveal any details of Mrs. Roosevelt's return journey, but the fact that the president met her at an airport indicated that she returned by airplane.

During an air rad test in which power lines serving Pelham, N. Y., were theoretically blasted by enemy bombs, there was no light other than that given by a candle. Mrs. H. Llewelyn Roberts, a volunteer nurse, is seen binding the "wounds" of five-year-old Anthony Therrein by candle.

18 and 19-Year-Olds Get Draft Blanks During Week

State Sends Out Order, Clerks Here Say 800 to Be Contacted, Some Being Inducted In January.

Richland county selective service boards expect to mail questionnaires to their 18- and 19-year-old registrants before the end of this week and probably will call the first of the younger group of boys for induction in January.

State draft officials in Columbus said today they had issued instructions to local boards to send questionnaires immediately to the registrants in the 18-20 age group.

While Richland county board clerks said today they had not received the "go" sign from the state, they expect to have instructions by Wednesday and will have the blanks mailed within a day or two.

It was estimated that there are 800 registrants in the county who are in the 18-20 age group. Ohio has approximately 140,000 of them.

Part of the December call will be made up of married men with no children, but as soon as boards start inducting the registrants under 20, the married men will have a respite until the reservoir of younger men is exhausted, state draft officials said.

Most estimates placed the supply as enough to fill about two months' calls, probably January and February. After that, married men without children will be called; then those with one child will be inducted.

Board 3 sent its largest group of men to Cleveland today for final examinations and induction. Included in the contingent were Charles Letizia, Mansfield motorcycle patrolman; Harland McCormic, Shelby city patrolman, and Edward Lysinger, Shelby fireman.

Members of the group who meet army requirements and are inducted will have 13 days at home before they start training.

NAMED AS SPIES

2 Rumanian Priests Indicted By Federal Grand Jury.

DETROIT — (AP) — The federal grand jury today indicated two priests of the Rumanian Orthodox church and an editor on charges of espionage.

The priests are Father Glighaerie Moraru of Dearborn, Mich., identified in the indictment as leader in North America of the Free Rumanian movement; and Father Stephan Opreanu of Detroit. Opreanu and George Zamfir, Detroit editor of Rumanian publications, were named as agents of Moraru.

Louis M. Hopping, assistant district attorney, said Moraru twice visited the former King Carol of Rumania in Mexico and received $13,000 from him to further the movement.

Need Explanation Of Farmer Deferment In 'Teen Draft

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Selective service headquarters said today the new 'teen-age draft bill's provision for deferring farm workers was so badly stated that an official interpretation would be required.

Spokesmen said the provision, which some congressional proponents had said during debate would make little if any change in previous regulations, was being studed closely at headquarters preparatory to issuance of a definition for local boards.

The language of the clause follows:

"Every registrant found by a selective service local board, subject to appeal in accordance with Section 10 (A) (2,) to be necessary to and regularly engaged in an agricultural occupation or endeavor essential to the war effort, shall be deferred from training and service in the land and naval forces."

Although agriculture already was listed among some 39 activities designated as "essential to the support of the war effort," it was the only one given special deferment status through legislation.

This factor apparently has given rise to some concern at national headquarters that varying or extreme interpretations of the provision among the 6,500 local boards, some of which deal almost exclusively with farm workers, might upset quotas and calls.

Regulations which have been in effect for some time covering deferments in agriculture as one of the essential activities permit local boards to reclassify 3-A farm workers as 3-B, adding occupational deferment to the dependency,

ALLIES AIMING DOUBLE DRIVE AT TUNISIA

TROOPS SET TO CLASH

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON —(INS)— Secretary of State Cordell Hull today conferred with Secretary of War Stimson and Secretary of the Navy Knox on the North African situation.

(By Associated Press)

LONDON — A German report that British and American motorized forces have reached the southern Tunisian border area suggested today that the Allies might be aiming two armored spearheads into Tunisia, one toward Bizerte and Tunis along the coast, and the other through desert and mountain trails directly toward Tripoli to trap Axis forces in North Africa.

There was no word from Allied sources that the battle yet was joined, but German broadcasts said Nazi planes bombed British and American mobile columns sweeping along the coastal road from Algeria to Bizerte and in the southern border area of Tunisia.

What was meant by the southern border area was not defined, but it was recalled here that as early as the middle of last week an American force from Algeria was reported moving southeast on th. Bou-Saada road in the direction of lower Tunisia and a short-cut to Tripoli.

Nothing has been reported from this column since.

Other desert trails, it was noted, lead to southern Tunisia from the Lake Chad region where American and fighting French forces have been reported gathered in the north of French Equatorial Africa. It is roughly 1,000 miles from the Lake Chad country to the Tunisian border, however.

Meanwhile bad weather over the Libyan desert curtailed aerial activity, and a United States communique from Cairo said American reconnaissance planes patroled the desert without encount-

State Approves Tax Rates Set Up For County

Richland county's 1942 tax rates, set up recently by Auditor Norman L. Wolfe, had been approved today by the state tax commission, the auditor was informed.

The Mansfield rate of 16.20 mills, upon which taxes paid next year will be based, is .20 of a mill higher than the present rate. Taxes collected this year were figured on the basis of the 1941 rates.

The increase, the auditor pointed out, is due to the placing of the Senior high school bonds outside the 10-mill limitation so as to provide more operating funds for the schools.

Shelby's new rate is 16 mills, a decrease of .40 of a mill. Payment of school and city bonds dropped the amounts needed for debts and brought the reduction, the auditor said.

Lexington village still has the highest rate in the county at 20.80 mills. Lucas, which voted a tax increase at the recent election, is a close second with 19.40 mills. The lowest rate in the county is 10.50 mills in Mifflin township.

Knox Says Foe Might Return Despite Defeat

Calls Three-Day Action Major Victory As Enemy Loses 11 Warships, 12 Other Vessels Sunk, 7 Damaged; 8 U. S. Warcraft Go Down.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Secretary of Navy Knox said today that the United States clearly had won round two of the battle for the Solomon Islands, but that it "must not be forgotten" that there may be a round three.

The secretary called last week's American naval victory—which cost the Japanese 11 warships and 12 other vessels sunk and 7 ships damaged—a major action, but not a decisive one.

Japanese personnel losses may have run from 20,000 to 30,000.

"We have at the moment," Knox said in response to a press conference question, "naval supremacy around Guadalcanal."

He declined to claim more advantage than that strategically, but commenting on the overall result of the greatest naval engagement since the battle of Jutland in the World war, said that it leaves American forces "in complete and undisputed possession of the (Guadalcanal-Tulagi) area and of the Island of Guadalcanal and the airfield there and has caused the enemy very severe losses both in ships and personnel."

The effect of these losses, Knox said, obviously will be hurtful to the Japanese navy, but he declined to say that the Jap fleet had been crippled.

"No doubt," he declared, "the processes of attrition operate more against them than against us.

Jap Navy Swept To Disaster In Greatest Night Sea War

By WALTER B. CLAUSEN

PEARL HARBOR, T. H.—(AP)—Japan's naval hordes swept down on the Solomon islands to disaster in their all-out effort to smash American power in the South Pacific.

When full details of those three short but fiery engagements northwest of Guadalcanal on Nov. 13-15 become known, they will tell a story of not only the greatest naval battles ever staged at night, but also of the fiercest slugging combats in all naval history.

It was a most costly demonstration to Japan that not only have American forces complete control of the land, sea and sky there, but also they have the force to carry on an offensive.

"I think they brought everything they had," said Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet, significantly.

"As a result, all the enemy forces were either destroyed or driven back, and a major victory was obtained by our gallant forces."

The admiral said he was certain the victory would result in the immediate strengthening of the hold we now have on Guadalcanal and the eventual expulsion of the enemy from that strategic island.

The Japs on Guadalcanal, he said, are suffering from the lack of two things: beans and bullets.

"They have bands of men in the upper reaches of the island

M'Arthur Leads Yanks, Aussies Against Jap's Buna Base

(By Associated Press)

GEN. M'ARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia—Led by General MacArthur, jungle-toughened American and Australian troops forged within heavy cannon shot of Buna today, ready to fight the Japanese for that key Papuan base or take it by default.

The commander-in-chief of the southwest Pacific went into the field himself to direct the campaign and with him were General Sir Thomas Blamey, his commander of Allied land forces, and Lieut. Gen. George C. Kenney, his commander of Allied air forces.

Today's headquarters communique said that Australian patrols had reached the vicinity of Awala, only 30 miles by trail from Buna, with Australian and American forces closing in rapidly from the west and south against a steadily retreating enemy.

The Japanese faced either a last-ditch stand or an attempt to flee by sea. Buna is their only coastal toehold in Papaua but up the New Guinea coast they have strongholds at Lae and Salamaua, some 150 miles away.

American B-25 medium bombers and A-20 attack planes teamed with Australian Beaufighters to strafe and bomb the retreating enemy around buna

Smoking by Children Is Big Problem

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

I SMOKE. A pipeful lasts for about one column. I often wish I didn't. It costs money. It's a dirty habit, and to some persons one's smoking is offensive. Life insurance companies advise those they insure not to smoke, giving this advice in terms of dollars and cents to their firms. Medical journals don't carry advertisements of tobacco.

Health authorities agree that smoking is most harmful during the child's growth, and athletes who observe the rules of training don't smoke. Indeed, sports have generally had good effect in keeping some youths from smoking.

Religious appeals also are responsible for a certain percentage of non-smoking youths and adults. Though we must admire those persons who because of religious teaching or obligations avoid tobacco and the like, yet, by and large, these influences do not seem to be very great.

Health Appeal

Also we must admit that parental example is a factor, that the father and mother who don't smoke are in a more favorable position to win their child not to smoke. However, we need to recognize that our folk-ways are such that the use of tobacco is generally considered as belonging only to those grown-up or nearly so. To the child of 10 the parent can say that smoking is for big people with about as much effect as to say to the tot of two that pickles are not for little children. Of course, we can only guess what might happen in the future should our folk-ways approve smoking generally by those as young as 10 or 12.

The health argument, I believe, is the strongest. Practically all of us parents, with this argument in mind, strongly wish our children would not smoke at all or not until they have fully grown. Yet most of us will do very well indeed if we prevail on our children not to smoke until they are grown.

Let no parent suppose he can keep his child from smoking merely by commanding him not to smoke.

Having done your very best to keep your son or daughter from smoking, suppose this child begins to smoke. Your next step is to induce him or her to smoke in moderation. I hope you don't cause the child to smoke clandestinely, abuse him, or act childishly in any way about his smoking. Better to have your child love you and smoke than to despise you and smoke anyway.

Pitfalls of Love

(A sequel to Marriage Meddlers)
By ADELE GARRISON

Olina put her hand to her throat with a tremulous gesture.

"But," she said, "if that be true, the writer of the letter must be someone who knew that the old gate post was used as a letter box."

"Yes, and that limits us to a half a dozen people, most of whom have been here since that episode and are now in constant contact with you."

"That leaves only two persons who—" she began, then stopped dead.

"Let us stop talking about the picture for a little while," I said. "Tell me, am I mistaken in thinking you believe Georges sent you that fan letter and painting?" And the next instant I could not help thinking of that odious quotation about "the Colonel's lady and Judy O'Grady."

Olina Humble.

For all panoply of royalty and arrogance of manner, once noted in this exiled Princess of Transvania, had fallen from her like discarded garments, and it was a shy, confused, trembling girl who started at my question, then countered it with another.

"You have — guessed, then?" she asked tremulously.

"It isn't very hard to guess, is it," I asked with a whimsical smile, "if we start with the premise that the picture represents The Larches? Who else in the world, besides our group here and the old man and woman who served you, knows that you ever lived at The Larches, except Georges?"

"You don't think it might be the old man?" she asked, and I saw that a yes would greatly disappoint her.

"No, I don't," I said truthfully. "Your old servant was faithful and fairly resourceful, but did not possess the imagination, nor flair for romantic intrigue, which appear in this message. I am convinced it was sent you by Georges—I cannot always remember to say King Georges."

"Poor Georges!" Olina sighed, but with a sudden lighting of her face and eyes. "He isn't a king now, any more than Mama is a queen or I a princess. Georges lost his throne, you know."

"And as I remember the light-hearted Georges," I said, "I imagine he doesn't consider that a vital loss. But how do you suppose he ever escaped from that maelstrom over there?"

"Maelstrom is right," Olina said with a shudder, "and Mama and I were sure he had been drawn into its swirl. But if anybody could escape, it would be Georges. Knowing how will have to wait until we see him, if we ever do."

Olina was so forlorn and discouraged that I almost told her what first was my conjecture, now fast becoming my conviction, but at that moment my father's imperative knock sounded on the camouflaged door.

Spencer's Warning.

"I am sorry to interrupt you," he said when I answered it, "but I must go away for an hour or two and wish first to speak to Olina, if I may."

"Of course," she said quickly, and he spoke with slow emphasis.

"There are two things I wish to say to you," he began. "One concerns the need for caution in your movements from this minute until I relax my own precautions.

"I do not wish you to go anywhere outside the door of your suite without a guard. The writer of this letter cautions you not to go on the streets, but the corridors of this hotel are also dangerous. Adams, in the next suite, is awaiting now to escort you back to your father's apartment.

"The second thing is this. I wish you to delegate to me the authority to insert that personal, summoning your unknown friend."

"The Authority on Authorities"

STICK TO YOUR GUNS

Close observation of countless cases by the leading players of the land has brought them into almost absolute agreement on one rather ticklish point. It concerns your action after deciding to open the bidding on a hand so close to the borderline that you could not very well be censured for passing.

If your partner gives you a jump response, either to three in that same suit or to a stage one higher than a minimum in another suit, you are tempted to pass. Don't do it. In the long run, a pass will cost you more points than will bidding again.

No. 1 in the table above is the bidding that actually occurred, in a rubber game among four better-than-average players in Pittsburgh. East passed the 3-Hearts, which he probably would not do again in a similar spot. Calling 4-Hearts would have produced a game for his side, if not the slam which was in the cards.

Yes, he should have started with 1-Spade, as in No. 2, so he could have bid hearts cheaply on his next turn. But slam is hard to reach with East opening.

Practically every strong player would open in the West if East passed, due to his great playing strength. In that case, North would almost surely bid 2-Clubs, making it simple for West to cue-bid the suit and reach slam as in No. 3, by natural bidding, or by means of the Blackwood convention, as in No. 4, where the 4-No Trumps asked about all suits except the cue-bid clubs. That same bidding might also be used if North was silent.

HOROSCOPE

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, Nov. 18.

Continued good fortune is found in this day's astrological chart, and affairs may advance upon high goals of achievement and cherished ideals and desires. This expansive, generous and ambitious program may reach the highest of fulfilments through the support of elders, superiors and community or public associations, with a stabilizing effect on the financial credit and growth. It is a time for pushing in this direction for honors, favors and preferment, consolidating the interests and possessions by daring to be original or to employ audacious innovations or radical changes.

Those whose birthday it is may plan for an important and expensive year, with all goals stimulated to high pressure, for an enduring and perhaps spectacular culmination of the most ambitious hopes and wishes. There should be growth in all directions, with financial increase, possessions enhanced and stabilized, largely by revolutionary changes, novelty and bold strokes of genius or originality. Those in prestige and power should be found cooperative, especially agencies, lawyers, strangers as well as elders.

A child born on this day should be bounteously endowed with those talents, resources and characteristics making for high place and power.

CHAPTER XVIII

"Let me see it," he said and tried to take the wrist, but she moved quickly away. "Let me see it," he repeated.

She moved it to him slowly and felt dizzy. There was some brandy in a bottle in a flap in the car. He held it to her mouth.

"Stop at the first telephone booth and call Dr. Nelson," Fordyce told his chauffeur. "I'm bringing him a patient."

"I fell down," she told the doctor.

Fordyce drove Livia back to her apartment. It seemed there was another class of girl in Hollywood, and he wasn't sure he liked it.

"How would you like a part in my picture?" he asked her when they reached her street.

"No."

"It's not a big part, but you might do something with it," he continued. "We start shooting in three weeks—that'll give your wrist a chance to heal."

"I won't do it," said Livia stubbornly, "I think you're hateful."

"Okay—but report to the studio in three weeks." He helped her up the short flight of steps. "And don't worry about the doctor's bill—it's all paid for. From today you're on my payroll."

"No," said Livia.

"Good-bye—I'll send you the script in the morning."

The first person Livia encountered at the studio was Bruce Nolan. He was on his way to the sound stage and the barroom balcony from which he soon would jump 20 feet to the ground for $75 a jump.

"What's wrong?" he asked, looking at her wrist, which was still in a small cast.

"Oh, nothing," hurriedly, "I—er fell down." His cool eyes took in the details of her face and dress.

"I read where you had a big part in a picture. What's it's name—something about love and moon?"

"'June Madness'—but it isn't a big part."

"You should complain to Charles Fordyce—he's your friend. He's every woman's friend."

"Bruce—please don't be mean." Her eyes pleaded, "Bruce, let's go somewhere and talk."

"See you on the barroom floor," he said and strolled away. It was a new casual Bruce, and she did not like him this way. But she had infinite faith in her powers to charm him again.

She called at the publicity department. Tennant was grateful to her for saving his job.

"I'm going to put you over, baby, like no one has before. I'm gonna make you the new sensation."

"Say anything you like about me—only no more romances." She escaped and found stage 7. The doorman knew her, and there was no difficulty getting on the set. Bright arc lamps converged on the three-sides, garish 1880 barroom. They were always the same in pictures—the cheap-looking, underdressed ladies of no profession, the large array of glasses on the bar, and the be-whiskered, smiling barman in front of the huge mirror, that was always smashed in the final free-for-all; the gambling tables, the sinister proprietor with a diamond pin as big as your hand; the sudden gun-play, the gambler and the usual fight with the usual hero.

Bruce was doubling for the hero, who was too precious to risk his $150,000-per-picture neck for the twenty-foot jump. But the hero would do everything except the jump. Livia watched Bruce as he put one foot on the balcony rail, but he was nervous and it had to be done over and over again—until the director lost his temper and screamed:

"Vot are you—an actor or a mouse?"

Livia giggled nervously into her handkerchief. And now the camera was ready for the actual jump. The balcony seemed very high from the floor. Suppose Bruce was hurt? Her throat contracted. If he were killed? Then he would never know how much she loved him.

"Bruce!" The word cut through the "take" and ruined it.

"Vot the—" shouted the director, "Who did dat?" The eyes of everyone on the set accused Livia. "Kindly go," screamed the director.

She did not look at Bruce, but went quickly from the set. She waited outside a long time, hoping he would join her. But she finally had to go.

It was late when she arrived at the wardrobe department.

"We'd given you up," said the pleasant-faced woman, through the pins in her mouth.

"Sorry," mumbled Livia. She undressed. "Do they have many accidents?" she asked the dressmaker.

"Who, dear?"

"Stunt-men." The woman draped a twist of silk over Livia's hips and pinned it into place.

"There, that gives you a long, sleek look . . . Accidents? Sometimes. But mostly not. Or there wouldn't be any stunt-men." She removed the pins and laughed. And Livia tried to smile. "How is the wrist?"

"The cast comes off tomorrow."

"That's good."

On a large dress rack were magnificent afternoon and evening dressed in various stages of creation.

"For Alice Delaware?"

The woman sighed and turned her eyes up to the ceiling.

"She's late as usual. We've been expecting her for an hour."

Livia was worried. She had no desire to encounter Miss Delaware and did not feel safe until she was out of the studio and on her way back to the apartment. She did not know Charles Fordyce was there until she turned on the light and saw him lying on the couch. He had his hat and coat on, and at first she thought he was asleep.

"I've been here hours."

"Did we have a date?" She sat on the couch beside him.

Three weeks had passed since the fight in his car. And Fordyce was still puzzled. She was playing a game, of course. Ambitious girls in Hollywood did not refuse the admiration of an important director — unless they were making a play for an important producer. She was a nice kid though; and whatever her game, he would play it with her, providing she didn't take too long about it.

He enjoyed being with her. He liked the excitement in her eyes when they talked. She would learn and grow. She had infinite possibilities. And if it were the last time—he was going to make an actress of her.

"We'll do a little rehearsing," he said, showing her the script by his side, "after we've eaten."

Livia scrambled some eggs. She was not a good cook, but Charles pretended to enjoy the eggs. She really was a sweet kid. Had he fallen for her? It was nothing new. He had fallen in and out of love all his life. But the women were usually older than Livia. It was safer that way—safer for him. Well, no matter how old, or how young they were, he could always take care of himself.

"Sit next to me," he said to Livia. She was taking off the little green apron she had worn over her dress. She hesitated.

"Still scared?"

"No, but—"

"Sit down."

"I'm being ridiculous," Livia thought, but she left a foot of space between them.

For two hours he destroyed her preconceived ideas of how she would play the part, her voice, her mannerisms, her gestures.

"You roll your eyes when you speak—very charming in real life, but terrible for the screen," he told her. "And you bounce when you walk. It's cute, but you'll look like a penguin on the screen . . . Say that line again—and raise your voice at the end—just as you do in real life . . . Now smile. No, smile naturally.

"No, that's even worse."

Livia tried to soften him by moving closer, but she might as well have been the table. She felt ashamed and moved away. Finally she said despairingly:

"I'm hopeless'." He stopped playing teacher and grinned into her distressed face.

"Not entirely." It went on.

Charles was just getting up and saying goodbye to Livia and debating inwardly the sort of kiss he might get away with, when there was a loud, insistent ringing at the door.

"I'll go see," said Livia.

She shouted for him to come down. A boy under the influence of liquor, was supporting Bertha. He was almost sober with the shock of the accident.

"My car—at the corner of the street," he said vaguely.

Bertha fainted in the passageway. She revived before the doctor came. He insisted she must go to a hospital. Her face was badly gashed.

"I've ruined you," the boy sobbed.

"Stop that," commanded Fordyce. "Why in hell do you drive a car when you're drunk? Where are the police anyway in this damned state?"

Bertha did not want to go to a hospital.

"I'm afraid," she whispered to Livia.

"I'll be with you, darling—all the time," Livia assured her.

"But what are they going to do to me?"

"Only a few stitches," Livia lied. There were bits of glass deep in her skin. It meant the end of Bertha's un-begun movie career. She had been signed for a "bit" role in "June Madness." And her legion of men. Would they, too drop away? Yes.

"We'll go in my car," said Fordyce. Bertha cried, and it hurt her face to cry.

The sordid little story was in the newspaper next day — with pictures. A man who had been on the spot with a camera received $10 apiece for them.

KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS ACIDS

Help 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes Flush Out Poisonous Waste

If you have an excess of acids in your blood, your 15 miles of kidney tubes may be overworked. These tiny filters and tubes are working day and night to help Nature rid your system of excess acids and poisonous waste.

When disorder of Kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Kidneys may need help the same as bowels, so ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

YOU WOMEN WHO SUFFER FROM HOT FLASHES

If you suffer from hot flashes, dizziness, distress of "irregularities", are weak, nervous—due to the functional "middle-age" period in a woman's life—try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It's helped thousands upon thousands of women to relieve such annoying symptoms. Follow label directions. Pinkham's Compound is worth trying!

WHEN YOU ENTERTAIN

Be proud of your table linens—be sure they are crisply fresh and snowy-white. Linens will retain "like-new" whiteness if washed regularly with Roman Cleanser. Roman Cleanser also removes many stains—directions given on the label.

More than a million housewives use Roman Cleanser. You'll like it, too.

FLAKORN CORN MUFFIN MIX

Less time in the kitchen means more time for war work. Just add egg and milk to Flakorn.

So it's easy? Let's have this soup often!

1. Just empty contents of package into boiling water . . . add butter . . . simmer.

Almost no work for you! And I predict your husband will be simply crazy about the soup. Real home-cooked soup, you know.

Delightful seasonings — and all those fresh vegetable flavors! The vegetables come in flake form, "dehydrated" (this process of removing moisture, while the vegetables are fresh, retains garden flavors). Then, too, you cook the vegetables for the first time yourself. They're not pre-cooked. So delicious tasting.

All this in every package. Seven choice vegetables: tomatoes, carrots, celery, onions, sweet bell peppers, spinach, parsley. Also seasonings, and rich egg noodles made from Gold Medal Durum Flour.

Thrifty, too! Six large bowls from every package. My staff and I recommend this product. Do try it.

Several Firemen Die in East Boston Blaze

Firemen are shown removing the bodies of several of their fellow workers who were trapped when a four-story brick wall and the roof of a burning building in East Boston, Mass., collapsed, trapping dozens of firemen in the wreckage. The blaze wrecked the century-old Lyceum Hall. Many firemen escaped by jumping to a ladder which remained in place although the big ladder truck on which it stood was buried in wreckage. The ladder truck, which cost $20,000, was believed to be the largest of its kind in the country.

Tank Rampage Hero

This picture of Corp. Bernard J. Kessel, of Brooklyn, N. Y., was taken during a furlough in New York. He is a member of the crew of the American medium tank that went on a rampage in the center of Oran, Algiers, rammed and destroyed three 75 mm. guns and fifty motor vehicles. The tank emerged from the city with its armor plate pock-marked but with the French guns hanging from its front. (Central Press)

Boast They'll Kill Anti-Poll Tax Bill

BROADWAY

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

This Is Where I Came In.

(The Column's Fourth Birthday)

JUST four years ago I was beckoned away from a battered typewriter in the city room and metamorphized into a Broadway columnist— a transition that carries with it quite a shock, like being switched from flying a 600 - m.p.h. pursuit plane to the more sedate pace of a heavy bomber. Or the city side, a working reporter never knows when a hasty call from the desk will bring a summons to chase a murderer, a flood, or a war to the ends of the earth. A columnist's schedule is quite tranquil by comparison. The hours are long and late, but nobody ever phones at 4 a. m. to summon me down to an unexpected night club opening; and the city editor has never bellowed for a scoop on who will follow Miss Chanteuse into the Club Intime.

Kilgallen

Since this is an anniversary column, I suppose I should look back — although not very far back, because 1938 is not yet ancient history and when you take it out of the mothballs and look at it nobody is going to weep into a cup of rosy memories and sigh, "Ah! Those were the days! THAT was Broadway!"

And yet, boy'd be surprised how many memories accumulate even in four years. Manhattan is a place very like that country in "Alice In Wonderland" where you had to run twice as fast to stay in the same place. Four seasons on Broadway are practically a lifetime—as crowded with incidents as 40 years in a less hectic clime.

So, fully aware that none of these recollections go back to the beginning of time, I'd like to tear off some lavender and new lace.

There was, for instance, the era of the Glamor Girls. Brenda Frazier's ermine debut ushered it in auspiciously enough, and the subsequent flowering of Cobina Wright, jr., Esme O'Brien and Josephine Johnson made the rotogravures scream for mercy.

Four years around the Broadway theaters do not permit me to dwell on the time I saw Jeanne Eagels in "Rain" or Joseph Jefferson III in "Rip Van Winkle," but when the phenomenon that was Saroyan came in town, I was there. Wild Bill—or, as he often has been described, the enfant horrible of the theater—made West 44th street, an exciting place, and among my souvenirs are those fabulous denunciations of the critics that followed every opening night and which, with proper staging, might have been better drama than some of his plays.

I was in the audience when Billy Gaxton and Victor Moore tried to revive vaudeville, and now I wish some musical comedy producer would revie Gaxton and Moore . . . I covered the opening night at El Morocco the year John Perona decided to make it look like a pink velvet birthday cake, and I think I was the first to recommend that he bring back the old zebra stripes and red-hot stars . . . It was in my era as a Broadway columnist that Ethel Merman had a baby, Kate Smith had "God Bless America" and Helen Morgan died . . . It was in my era that Tony DeMarco changed partners, Garbo laughed, and Chaplin forgot to.

The face of Broadway has changed. When I first began to write about it, it was a blinding bright street that never grew dark until dawn, when the chorus girls and the swing musicians and the playboys and the headwaiters had gone home. I was there when the lights went out on Broadway and it didn't look like Broadway any more.

So you see, faithful readers, a lot can happen, even in four years.

HOLLYWOOD

—By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD—It's difficult to find a middle-of-the-road point of view—in Hollywood—on the $25,000 salary ceiling as it applies to Hollywood.

There are the outwardly cheerful shoulder - shruggers, who'll leave it to their business managers to do the figuring and worrying. There are the "glad-to-do-it" contingent, some of whom add the fervent hope that the producers won't be the ones to profit by the measure through cut salaries for talent. They forget of course, that the producers are equally hit. There are the outraged, some sputtering, some articulate.

Coons

One of the latter, a sober business manager for stars, put it this way: "It will not affect me, as I'm on straight salary from my clients, and not a 10 per center. I still consider it a diabolic measure, violating all the basic laws of contract. I'm for soaking the rich, and for socking on heavy taxes to win the war. But this thing, as I figure it, actually returns the government less revenue than it would get if just the new income taxes were applied. If 300 enemy planes bombed Hollywood tonight, they'd cause no more confusion and chaos in this industry than this single decree."

Time and the mathematicians can prove him right or wrong.

Meanwhile, Hollywood already had been retrenching — to meet the new tax bill. The fabulous big parties of the old days when movie hostesses outdid each other in spending for effect and a little fun—were finished at Pearl Harbor. "Bad taste for war time," was the explanation. (They also cost money—if so vulgar a matter may be mentioned.)

Movie people who built little 10-room hideaways with tennis courts, swimming pools, and landscaped gardens already had begun trying to get out from under. Advertisements offering "palatial home—5-acre estate" or "marvelous value—2-acre estate, tennis court, swimming pool" have been common the past few weeks. One agent told me he could pick up $100,000 homes in any of the "fancy" communities for $25,000, which gives you an idea. A studio executive some weeks ago gave up his mansion (which required nine servants) in favor of a beach house — but what he'll do with gasoline rationing isn't clear.

That rationing, combined with scarcity of servants and the need to cut overhead, is sending the once far scattered film colony converging upon the center of things—Hollywood itself. This winter there'll be many mansions either closed, or shut off except for a few rooms, the furniture under cloth dust-protectors.

And that may be symbolic — of the old gaudy, glittering Hollywood under a shroud.

GOP MEMBERS OF OHIO HOUSE PLAN CAUCUS

McCullough Expected To Be Re-elected Speaker When Solons Meet.

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS—Majority Republican leaders of the newly elected Ohio house of representatives will be selected Friday, Nov. 27, when G. O. P. members-elect caucas to lay the groundwork for Ohio's first wartime legislative session in more than 20 years.

William M. McCullough of Miami county, veteran representative and speaker of the house during the last two sessions, issued the call for the caucus yesterday and announced that the speaker, speaker pro tem and clerk will be named. Other officers will be nominated and their election formalized when the legislature convenes Jan. 4.

McCullough appeared to be in line for re-election—which would make him a record-breaking consecutive third-termer along with Governor Bricker and Lieutenant Governor Paul M. Herbert.

Meanwhile, Senator Frank E. Whittemore, veteran Republican from Akron, appeared to have no opposition for re-election as majority leader and speaker pro tem of the upper house.

Senator William M. Boyd, Democratic minority leader in the 1941-1942 session, seems to have a running start for re-election. He has disclosed that the Democratic senate caucus will be held in Cleveland, since four of the five minority senators-elect are from Cleveland and the fifth is from Youngstown.

Rep. William H. Deddens, Cincinnati, elected from Hamilton county for a fourth term, appeared presently to have the lead for G. O. P. floor leader and, automatically, the title of speaker pro tem.

Members of the greatly overpowered Democratic house minority who have been mentioned as floor leaders include Rep. A. Lee Fair, Holmes county, elected to a seventh term; Rep. John A. Carney and Rep. John T. Derighter, both Cleveland fourth-terms; Rep. Lody Huml, Cleveland fifth termer; and John J. Buckley, third termer from Youngstown.

DEAD IN AUTO

F. A. Newman, 57, Victim of Heart Attack.

Frank A. Newman, 57, Galion grain dealer for the past 30 years, was found dead in his parked automobile on a road in Springfield township about 1:30 a. m. today.

Blake Kohler, acting Richland county coroner, said death was due to a heart attack.

Mr. Newman was born in Martel Feb. 8, 1885, and was married in 1905 to Ada Slough who survives. Other survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Cleo Pfleiderer of Galion; one sister, Mrs. Ray Ridenour of Bucyrus, and a half brother, Samuel Craner of Galion.

He was a member of the Reformed church at Galion and the Eagles lodge.

The body was taken to the Volk Funeral home in Galion where services will be conducted Thursday at 2:30 p. m. by Rev. R. R. Elliker, pastor of the Reformed church. Burial will be in Fairview cemetery, Galion.

Highway Patrol Loses Third Of Force To Service

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)— Ohio State highway patrolmen, tailor-made physically and educationally for the armed services, have left the patrol by nearly a score within the past month for the army and navy.

Today, as the patrol enters its 10th year, the patrol has been shorn of nearly one-third of its ranks and with little prospect of the movement into the services being stopped.

Supt. Lynn Black said that at least four and possibly more of the system's 11 sub-stations may be closed. "Unless the movement of our men into the armed forces is stopped, I do not know what will happen to the patrol," he said.

The patrol's strength today is 205 men. Its highest strength less than eight months ago was 297 men.

Most of the patrolmen receive commissions since they pass patrol physical examinations which are sterner than those given in the army. Each patrolman has a least a minimum high school education.

WPB APPROVES YULE BONUSES

Firms Can Still Give Them at Christmas, If They Are Traditional.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—You can still get (or give) that traditional Christmas bonus, and federal approval isn't necessary.

But note that it must be traditional! In other words, this is not the year to start a bonus custom, just because business is good. It is not the year to increase it, either. Of course, if bonuses have been based on a percentage of salary, and the salary has increased, then the amount of bonus also increases, but not the percentage. But if the bonus has been a fixed amount, it cannot be increased above the sum given in the last bonus year.

War labor board officials also called attention today to the fact that employers who gave wage increases between Oct. 3 and Nov. 7 without obtaining board approval, have two more weeks to ask for a retroactive o. k. This grace period, expiring Dec. 1, was allowed to prevent undue hardships resulting from confusion in the period transition which began with the president's executive order on Oct. 3. Penalties are tough on the employer, and the increases will be stopped, too, if the board finds later its regulations have been violated.

Employers of no more than eight persons need not get approval for increases. They are exempt, so long as price ceilings are not involved.

James F. Byrnes, director of economic stabilization, has ruled that in dispute cases, panel recommendations for wage increases must be shown to the office of price administration before the war labor board passes on the panel's proposal.

ELMER E. PLANK TAKEN BY DEATH

Ashland County Native To Be Buried Thursday.

ASHLAND—Elmer E. Plank, 68, lifelong resident of Ashland county, died Monday evening at his home southeast of Polk, after a short illness. Mr Plank, a farmer, was born in Perry township, July 15, 1874.

Surviving are his widow, Luella, five sons, Ralph, of Ashland; Guy, of Ashland; Harry, of Huron, Doyle, at home, and Walter Plank, of Ashland R. D. 3; five daughters, Mrs. William Gribben, Ashland R. D. 3; Mrs. Harold Harris, Polk, R. D. 1; Mrs. William Evil, Ashland, R. D. 3; Mrs. William Gerwig, of Ashland; and Esther, at home; three brothers, Joshua, of near Ashland; Marion, of Loudonville; and Ira, of near Savannah; and two sisters, Mrs. Leo Swan, and Mrs. Dora Enck. There are also 16 grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted Thursday at 2 p. m. at the home, with Rev. S. S. Davis, pastor of the Evangelical church, in charge.

COUPONS READY

ASHLAND—Fuel Oil coupons for kerosene are now available at the office of War Price and Rationing board in Ashland. Persons who registered for kerosene are asked by H. E. Echelberger, clerk of the board, to call at the office for their coupons.

CHARGE WASHINGTON HALTING 6-DAY WORK WEEK IN MINES

WASHINGTON—The United Mine Workers announced in their official journal today that they are "ready and willing" to begin six-day week operation in coal mines but charged that government "price bureaucrats" are blocking the move.

Fuel administration Harold I. Ickes asked the work week extension two months ago, and the UMW said both union and operators are anxious to put it into effect.

"The coal industry has rehearsed and is in full dress for the six-day work week," the mine workers journal said. "But the refusal of the price bureaucrats to act has thus far prevented the six-day week operation.

"To obtain clearance papers to start the six-day work week operators have been hot-footing from the labor department, to solid fuels, to the wage and hour division and the office of price administration, with a courtesy call upon the coal division, without accomplishing anything."

What the operators want is an increase in coal prices to meet the added time-and-a-half wage payments for the sixth day.

The operators found, the journal reported, that Ickes "was sadly lacking in authority to put over the price increase to cover the cost of the additional work week."

"Rightly, they insist that since the government requested the six-day week that somewhere within the government official family, someone in authority must grant the costs involved in the six-day week operation."

UMW President John L. Lewis and other union officials were scheduled to confer today in New York with Applachian coal operators. The journal said some operators doubted the necessity of the six-day week since the country has 87,000,000 tons of bituminous coal in storage.

NAMED CAPTAIN

Lee Hartley To Serve at Engine House No. 4.

Lee Harley, 78 West Prospect street today became a captain in the Mansfield fire department, according to announcement by Service-Safety Director Fred B. Wolff.

Harley has been assigned to No. 4 engine house on Newman street. His appointment fills the vacancy caused by the retirement resignation by Leo Saltzgaber Oct. 1. He was one of 12 firemen to undergo promotional examinations conducted three weeks ago by the city Civil Service commission.

Wolff today asked the commission to certify an eligible applicant for the fireman post vacated by Harley and to submit a list from which two firemen can be selected for appointment Dec. 1 under a recently authorized council expansion of the force.

DRIVER FINED

ASHLAND—Clarence Lyle Wingrove, Ashland, was fined $100 and costs in police court Monday on a charge of driving while intoxicated. His driving license was suspended for one year. Wingrove was arrested in Ashland early Sunday morning.

BLAME ALCOHOL

Investigators Say Engineer On Wrecked Train Had Been Drinking

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y.—(INS)—The engineman of a New York Central freight train which crashed into a Michigan Central express 10 miles north of Ossining on Armistice day, killing two and injuring three had been drinking, Dr. Amos O. Squire, county medical examiner, said today.

Dr Squire said that chemical analysis of the brain of the engineman, Jacob Kisselback, 58, of Albany, disclosed alcohol.

Laff-a-Day

"They don't have to worry about my blabbing about my work. I still don't know exactly what I'm doing!"

Up and Down THE STREET

If you pass out, in a military manner of something, the police or a civilian defense rescue squad can revive you. But it has to be legal—not just one of those bad moments. Today a factory representative demonstrated the operation of an inhalator and resuscitator obtained through appropriations by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, city council and the civilian defense council. The instruction session, held in the office of Police Chief Thomas M. Bell, was attended by members of the police department, firemen, defense enrollees and civilian defense authorities. Similar apparatus has for some time been available through the fire department.

Heavy showers this morning helped to replenish water supplies in the county, but farmers who are harvesting their biggest crop of soy beans didn't welcome the rain. County Agent George B. Ganyard said a considerable part of the county bean crop remains to be harvested because there has been no satisfactory harvest season this fall. Enough beans were raised for war purposes in the county this year to keep every available combine busy through the entire fall season, he added. Frequent showers have interrupted the harvest and may damage the crop if they continue.

Four Richland county aviation cadets at Perrin field, Texas, are making better landings and performing air acrobatics with more precision now that they've just passed another marker in their quest for "wings" and commissions in the army air forces. In the group of graduates into the upper class of aviation cadets are Joseph P. Lesch, Raymond J. Merrifield and John B. Hunter, all of Mansfield and Charles A. Swath of Lucas. They will go to advanced flying schools for instruction in handling powerful planes.

NEW MEETINGS

3 More Sessions Booked For Discussions on Meals.

Three more extension meetings in a series entitled "Meals From Home-grown Foods" are scheduled for Richland county rural communities during the next three days, according to Miss Elizabeth Bay, home demonstration agent.

Miss Bay will be in charge of a session Wednesday at 11 a. m. in the Darlington Community hall.

Mrs. Norma Campbell, home economics specialist from Ohio State university, will conduct an advanced meeting Thursday at 11 a. m. at the Ontario school. The afternoon session the same day will be in the Ontario Community church.

Final meeting and demonstration of the week will be at 11 a. m. Friday at the home of Mrs. A. W. Firestone near Shiloh Miss Bay will be in charge. The Ontario and Shiloh session are the second on the same topic in those communities. Women who attend the meetings were asked to provide table service.

SENATE FOES TO CONTINUE FILIBUSTER

We'll Keep Right on Talking Until Jan. 3, Say Opponents of Measure.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — Senate foes of the anti-poll tax bill today boasted that their filibuster will kill the measure, as the Democratic senate leadership sought means of bringing the issue to a vote.

"They will never pass the bill this session of congress," said Sen. McKellar (D., Tenn.) "We will keep right on talking up to Jan. 3, when the congress expires."

Democratic Leader Barkley declined to reveal his next move in an effort to break the filibuster, but indicated that many parliamentary maneuvers remain open to him.

The most powerful weapon against filibusters, however may not be invoked. It is the cloture rule, under which two-thirds of the senate can vote to limit the speech of an individual senator to one hour.

"Adoption of cloture would be questionable," said Sen. Norris (I., Neb.,) advocate of the bill, "because a two-third majority would be necessary to invoke it. We are not certain of sufficient votes to do it.

"Cloture could not be invoked, at any rate, until the bill is actually before the senate for consideration. All the moves thus far made have been to get the bill before the senate for consideration, 'gag rule' cannot be enforced on the motions that have been made thus far."

Barkley was expected to move again today for consideration of the bill and Sen. Wall Doxey (D., Miss.) was ready to again make a point of order.

In order to prevent a vote before 2 p. m., foes of the measure were ready to demand reading of the senate journal. The senate usually skips this procedure, but any senator can demand that it be read. Motions then can be made to correct the journal.

McKellar charged that the anti-poll tax bill is unconstitutional. States alone can repeal it, unless there is a constitutional amendment, he asserted.

McKellar also was wrathy over the action of Barkley in forcing the arrest of three senators on Saturday in order to compel their attendance. McKellar was one of those arrested.

He said that he had taken his name off a petition—which he started—asking President Roosevelt to appoint Barkley to the supreme court.

RECEIPTS DROP

Sales Tax Revenue 22 Per Cent Down For 10 Months.

Richland county sales tax receipts for the first 10 months of 1942 dropped approximately 22 per cent below the corresponding period last year, State Treasurer Don H. Ebright reported today.

The county's collections to Nov. 1 this year were $449,714, while at the same time last year they stood at $597,229.

There was a marked drop in the final week of October, receipts amounting to $10,130 for the week as compared with $14,907 last year.

Total collections in Ohio to Nov. 1 were $44,272,007, nearly $6,000,000 under the first 10 months of 1941.

BREAK RECORD

Ohio Employment Office Places 289,000 In Jobs.

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Ohio employment offices, spurred by demands from rapidly-expanding defense industries, placed a record-breaking 289,479 persons in jobs in 1941.

Placements of 53,753 men in manufacturing plants which was twice the 1940 total; plant jobs for 18,459 women, 60 per cent above the previous year, and an increase of 200 per cent in the number of jobs for men in utility industries.

A Crestline fan, exultant over the 37-0 victory scored by Crestline high school over Shelby, writes to remind me that a year ago I said Crestline was a breather for Shelby.

His memory is better than mine. In a year's time I write a lot of pieces for the paper, and I couldn't be expected to recall one line written 12 months ago.

But I'll take his word for it that I said the Crestline game a year ago was a breather for Shelby.

It has taken the Crestline letter writer a whole year and a 37-0 victory to reach the conclusion that Crestline isn't a breather on the Shelby schedule. He points out that in the five years of rivalry between the two schools Crestline has now won two games and Shelby three

I fail to get his point. The Crestline game a year ago certainly was a breather for Shelby. Score: Shelby 26, Crestline 6. And that made the score in games at the time: Shelby 3, Crestline 1.

No one has said that any game on the schedule this season was a breather for Coach Tommy Bender's small Whippets.

Now if someone will dig up something I may have said 20 years ago and prove it wrong in the light of present day developments, my day will be complete.

The Bucyrus Redmen seem to have inherited the victory famine which was broken this year at Galion. In two years now the Redmen haven't won a football game, although they upset the dope with a scoreless tie with Mt Vernon in the season's finale last week.

And it was only three years ago that Nick Wasylik, former Ohio State star, was being hailed as the "miracle man of North Central Ohio league coaches" for his spectacular development of the Bucyrus team.

It only goes to show again that the coaches must have the material to work with.

So long as they play their best it's no disgrace to any group of boys — be they from Bucyrus or Shelby or Mansfield or Podunk— to be defeated by a better team

It isn't so much how tough you are that counts in this game of football it's how tough the other guy is

Don't waste too much sympathy on Bucyrus and Shelby and Mansfield and Podunk because they happen to be down this season The worm has a habit of turning although sometimes it takes the worm a long time to remember that habit.

Please don't make this writer squirm,
By saying:
"It's your turn to turn,
you worm."

Snyder Aids Cage Mentor

Returns To School After Siege of Flu.

Mansfield high school football Coach Paul Snyder returned to school yesterday weak and wan from a two-weeks' siege of influenza and pitched into his new duties as assistant to Basketball Mentor Vern Hoffman

Except for a few football players yet to report, Hoffman had his entire squad in action yesterday afternoon for a long scrimmage session, but there was no indication that a first team had been selected.

Hoffman has two veterans back from last year, Jim Robertson, who will be available only half the season, and Dean Hahn

Subs returning from last year are Bill Snowden, Russ McBride, and Andy Lamelaux while from last year's tournament squad are Ned Brunk and Bob Baker

Reserves of last season include Leland Crownover, Eugene Foster, Douglas Myers Joe Nixon and Joe Radio.

Coming up from John Simpson Junior high are James Adams, Richard DePue, Bill Dent, Donald Hardy, Russell Jochs, Mike Zivkoff, Joe Komjenovich, and Roland Schmidt.

And from Johnny Appleseed there are Kenneth Holmes Ralph Myers, Charles Sauder, Murray Swihart and Jerry Zeller.

Bulldogs Threaten Tigers

Canton McKinley Given Chance at Massillon.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—A conflict in dates with the Michigan-Ohio State football game Saturday is the only thing that keeps a grudge battle between Massillon and Canton McKinley from taking the play from the collegiate gridders

Twenty-two thousand fans will pack Massillon stadium to see Massillon try to chalk up its 53rd game without a loss. That will surpass any other Ohio football crowd of the year except the throngs which attended Ohio State games or saw Notre Dame and Navy play at Cleveland

A vastly improved Canton eleven, which trounced unbeaten Lakewood last week, is given its best chance of downing the powerful Tigers since 1933. McKinley hasn't beaten Massillon since 1934 although Canton holds a 22 to 21 edge in games won during their 47 years of rivalry. Other games ended in ties.

Massillon edged Erie East 13 to 6, although several injured players were on the sidelines resting for the McKinley tilt Despite this rest, it still was considered doubtful whether Bob Graber, the Tigers' triple threat star, would be able to start Saturday He has a double ankle sprain

Lakewood was one of three unbeaten teams, two with long winning streaks, toppled into the defeated ranks last week Lakewood, unbeaten previously in 21 games, fell before McKinley, 28 to 6.

That unlucky "13" finally proved disastrous for Powhatan last Friday the 13th With a record of being undefeated in 15 games, Powhatan lost to Yorkville 13 to 6. The week before Powhatan eased through with a 13-all tie with St. Clairsville

Powhatan's first defeat in three years left Tiltonville the leading team along the eastern Ohio river front. Tiltonville's Warren consolidated got past its 24th game without defeat by closing the season with a 12 to 6 triumph over Steubenville Central

Columbus North was the third unbeaten team to hit the dust getting upset by Columbus East 13 to 12

Undefeated teams and total victories included Massillon 52, Xenia Soldiers and Sailors Orphans' Home 28 Tiltonville 24, Toledo Libbey 17, Fredericktown 15, Miamisburg 9, Defiance 9, Dover 8, Boardman 8, Arlington 8, Hudson 8, Sandusky St Marys 8, Dayton Oakwood 8 Ashtabula 8, Middleport 8, Versailles 8 and Clearview 7.

Versailles in winning its eighth straight did what only Defiance has been able to do previously— stop Paulding high school's 18-year-old scoring sensation, Bob Lucas

Lucas, a bald-headed colored boy with still a year of high school competition to play, ran the opening kickoff back 80 yards for a touchdown, but was held the rest of the game to 38 yards gained as Versailles won, 13 to 6.

Those six points gave Lucas 278 for the season and 475 for three years of competition

Ernie Ruhman Paulding sports promoter said the 475 total tied the scholastic marks made by Michigan's famous Tom Harmon and Indiana's Billy Hillenbrand

Runners-up to Lucas for the season were Ollie Cline of Fredericktown with 175 and Chuck Gill of Port Clinton with 163 All have finished their seasons play

Up at Ashtabula Paul Dellerba Ashtabula fullback put on a scoring show of his own, scoring six touchdowns for 36 points in the 36 to 0 rout of Conneaut

On one unusual play a gale-like wind carried a Conneaut punt 24 yards backward across the goal to give Ashtabula a safety

Down in southern Ohio, Bill Cantrell, Gallipolis halfback, ran the opening kickoff with Logan 94 yards for a touchdown. Burt and Matson, Pomeroy halfbacks, each registered touchdown runs of 75 yards.

Sandusky and Lorain although they've played once this year will hold a post-season game Saturday for the benefit of civilian defense funds of Lorain and Erie counties Lorain won 21 to 0 in the previous encounter

Ohio State's Battering Bucks Battle Michigan This Week-End

Mighty football machines of Ohio State university and the University of Michigan collide in Ohio's stadium at Columbus next Saturday in what will be a headliner of the day. The Western conference title hinges on the outcome. The Bucks, beaten only by Wisconsin this season, are shown above.

Georgia Clings To First Rank

Ohio State Moves Up To Fifth Position.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Georgia clung to first place in the Associated Press' poll to determine the nation's best college football team although its share of the first place votes slumped from 76 per cent a week ago to 54 per cent in today's tabulation.

Much of the favoritism formerly shown the southern powerhouse switched to Boston college but the Eagles were unable to better their third place rating behind Georgia and Georgia Tech

Sixty-nine of the 126 voting experts figured the Bulldogs were the best although 85 of 112 had that opinion a week ago before the men of Wally Butts buried Chattanooga, 40 to 0.

However the 56 to 6 pasting the Bostonians applied to Fordham brought them 37 first place votes in contrast with the 10 of a week ago And Georgia Tech, which cleared one of toughest hurdles in downing Alabama, gained points and respect but also lost first place votes in the general swing to the Eagles

Michigan which lived up to early season billing by downing Notre Dame, vaulted from sixth to fourth place while the Irish skidded from fourth to eighth.

The standings of the teams (first place votes in parentheses, points figured on 10-9-8-7 etc. basis):

	First Ten	Points
Georgia (69)	1171	1171
Georgia Tech (13)	1093	1093

Sport Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Notes on a heavy week-end in the sports-writing business.

Friday is fight night at the Garden, and sometimes you wonder why you keep going there week after week . . . Of course you see some good scraps—and some bad ones, but it's one sure place to pick up the odd big of news or gossip to use in a column . . . Last Friday there was an undercurrent of excitement as the ringworms discussed Sammy Angott's sudden abdication of the lightweight title and the probable effect upon the Beau Jack-Allie Stolz affair.

Staurday it was Baker field for the Yale-Princeton game, with a bitter wind whistling through the almost unprotected press box . . . You just sat there and shook. Down on the field the wind did some strange tricks with the ball and so did the players, but mostly it was pretty good football . . . As an old grad, the result wasn't pleasing, but still Yale hadn't won for four years.

Sunday's a hockey night and it seemed queer to be expecting a poor game between the Rangers and Bruins . . . Always in the past those meetings had been the season's highspots . . . But rookies will perform like rookies and they put a lot of action into it even if they did lack skill

Monday it was the I.C 4-A cross-country meet . . . Frank Dixon, a well-built, tan-skinned negro lad from New York U made a show of the field.

It was a busy week-end, all right, but there's nothing doing for a few days now and you wonder what you'll write about until the next one comes along.

Madison Rams Plan Banquet

Gridders Honored In Annual Event Thursday.

Ticket sale for Madison high school's annual football banquet Thursday night at the school will close tonight with a capacity attendance assured

Last year the school served 263 enthusiastic boosters of the Madison Rams, but this was discovered to be too difficult a job in the space available, and tickets have been limited to 225 for Thursday's dinner. Members of the Boosters' club have been selling the tickets.

Gil Baird of Westinghouse who has become recognized as Mansfield's outstanding master of ceremonies for events of this kind, has been named toastmaster for the occasion.

Speakers will include Rev Grover Swoyer of First Lutheran church, a football and basketball star at Wittenberg before the first World war, Supt. Olan Larue and Principal W. E. Miller, Lawrence Hughes, vice president of the board of education, and Ray Anthony on behalf of the Boosters.

Coach Al Fendrick will introduce members of the Ram football team, while the reserves will be presented by Foster Laribee, assistant coach

Wallace Campbell, left guard, already has been elected captain of next fall's Ram eleven which will lose only six of this year's regulars: Captain Harold Hammer and Willie Wynn, backs, Gross and Poston, ends, Spriesterbach, center, and Rinehart, right tackle.

Miss Lenore Mills and girls of the home economics class will have charge of serving the dinner.

Mansfield Keglers Give $132 To USO

Mansfield bowlers last week put together $132.60 in quarters by league members and in headpin tourney fees for the United Service organizations as their share in the national Victory Legion bowling campaign.

Other leaders in their order in the two divisions were: Men, Pop Warner, Art Hilborn, Ed Reno and Fred Harmon; women, Bernice Reno, Katherine Stirtzinger, Katie Warga and Frances Broadrick

THEATERS

War Story at Ohio.

Laughter and romance in the face of emergency, in bustling wartime Washington, is the basic theme of the new picture, "The War Against Mrs. Hadley," opening Wednesday at the Ohio theater for a three-day run. Based along the same lines as "Mrs. Miniver," with an American locale, the imposing cast includes Edward Arnold, Fay Bainter, Richard Ney (who portrayed the role of Mrs. Miniver's son in the English story), Jean Rogers, Jan Johnson and Spring Byington. The play revolves about Mrs. Hadley, wealthy widow in wartime Washington, who tries to live her life as before the war, and not be drawn into it. A dramatic climax shows her awakening. "Tales of Manhattan," is being shown today.

New Double-Feature.

Two new pictures are scheduled for showing at the Madison theater, beginning Wednesday. Headlining the offerings will be Don Ameche and Joan Bennett, in "Girl Trouble," a fast-moving story, in which Ameche finds himself confronted with the situation which the title implies. Also on the bill is "Get Hep to Love," starring Gloria Jean, Jane Frazier and Robert Paige. The program for today offers Edgar Bergen, Charlie McCarthy, Fibber McGee and Molly, in "Here We Go Again," and "Highways By Night," with Jane Randoph, Jane Darwell and Richard Carlson featured.

Colbert at Ritz.

Claudette Colbert is teamed with Ben Lyon, popular movie star of several years back, now one of England's favorite stage stars, in the screen dramatization of Max Miller's famous book, "I cover the Waterfront," opening Wednesday at the Ritz theater. Headline events of the day are reflected in "Spy Ship," swift moving drama of Nazi espionage and fifth column activities, which rounds out the Ritz theater offering. William Powell and Hedy LaMarr, in "Crossroads," and "Ten Gentlemen from West Point" continues through today.

Kyser As Sleuth.

The efforts of an amateur secret-service agent to round up an enemy spy ring at night while he leads his band in the daytime, provide the story of "My Favorite Spy," Kay Kyser's new picture at the Park theater. His famous band, with Ish Kabibble, Sully Mason and Harry Babbitt, and soloists Trudy Irwin and Dorothy Dunn, provide the musical entertainment. "They Raid By Night," a story of the Commandos, is the second picture.

Scenes From Senior Class Comedy

Two scenes from the January senior class play, "The Ghost Flies South" which is to be presented under the direction of E. L. Heasley, Thursday evening in the Senior high auditorium are shown here. Above pictures leading members of the cast involved in a legal matter which results from the heroines making too much money in the stock market. From left to right, sitting, Mary Van Luit as Grandma Bantry; Charles Hayes as Morgan Winthrop; Etabel Hunter, Anita Meredith—Winthrop's fiancee; and William Beam, as Homer Reed the lawyer. Standing are Robert Wolf, Tyler Ranken; and Phillis Voyik, Diana Meredith. At right is the rest of the cast discussing one of their scenes. Norma Dent, Cordelia the maid; Margery Hegnauer, Mrs. Reed; Rose Swoyer, Mrs. Winthrop; Katherine Malone, Chiquita and Robert Schneiderer as Buck Hollis.

Senator Caraway Helps Burns Send Bazooka To Army

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Thanks to Senator Caraway and Bob Burns of Arkansas, the boys of the coast artillery in the Panama Canal Zone may soon be awakened mornings by a bazooka instead of a bugle.

The comedian recently offered the original home-made instrument on which he has tooted many a wierd tune as a prize in a liar's contest sponsored by the Jungle Mudder News, a troop newspaper.

But when the conglomoration of pipe and odd bits of metal was taken to a postoffice, it was refused because it was heavier than the regulations allow.

Burns appealed to Mrs. Caraway, who got Smith W. Purdum, acting postmaster general, to make exception.

EACH DAY OF THE WEEK ..... TO .....

ADDRESS .....

On Page 1 of the paper each day you will find a list of the advertisements to be checked that day.

All you have to do is to decide each day which Large Ad, which Medium Ad and which Small Ad you think will do the advertiser the most good. Just write three names on this blank each day.

$750.00 in awards go to those readers whose selections are nearest to what the majority of readers think. Every week is a separate survey with a dozen or more cash awards each week.

Every member of any family may send in one answer each week and there are many awards each week, but only one award for a good answer will go to any one family in any one week.

I THINK THESE ADS WILL DO THE ADVERTISERS THE MOST GOOD.

You are NOT required to write a letter to receive an award.

The awards are decided on the selections above. We would really appreciate it, though, if you would write a note saying what you DO NOT LIKE and . . . also . . . WHY YOU LIKED some of the good ads.

We sincerely want your suggestions and ideas of how we may improve our advertising service for your benefit. Write your letter in your own way! It's the thoughts and suggestions that matter. You are not being "judged" by your letters. Actually they have nothing to do with the awards . . but . . . they will be helpful by giving additional information to our merchants.

Your criticisms and suggestions will be given to the merchants to help them to improve their advertisements BUT the merchants will NOT be given the names of those who write the letters. This is so you may say just what you really think without embarrassment.

WATCH CURVE TO GET SCRAP

ANTWERP, N. Y. — (UP) — Boys of this village cashed in on the scrap rubber collection—with the aid of the United States Army.

Police noticed the boys stationed at a sharp turn in a road leading to a military reservation. They found some youngsters collected as much as five pounds a day of rubber scraps torn from the treads of armored vehicles as they screeched around the curve.

RECOVERY SEEN IN VIRTUALLY ENTIRE MARKET

Fractional Upswing Found In Early Trading as Irregularity Ends.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Fractional recoveries appeared in virtually all departments of today's stock market.

At a fairly active opening gainers included General Motors, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Anaconda, Goodyear, Sears Roebuck and International Telephone.

Retail securities had the benefit of the Department of Commerce announcement that the office of price administration soon would inaugurate across-the-board revision of maximum price regulations to permit curtailment of customer special services without reducing ceiling rates.

Pull the Trigger on Constipation, with Ease for Stomach, too

When constipation brings on discomfort after meals, stomach upset, bloating, dizzy spells, gas, coated tongue, and bad breath, your stomach is probably "crying the blues" because your bowels don't move. It calls for Laxative-Senna to pull the trigger on those lazy bowels, combined with Syrup Pepsin for perfect ease to your stomach in taking. For years, many Doctors have given pepsin preparations in their prescriptions to make medicine more agreeable to a touchy stomach. So be sure your laxative contains Syrup Pepsin. Insist on Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Senna combined with Syrup Pepsin. See how wonderfully the Laxative Senna wakes up lazy nerves and muscles in your intestines to bring welcome relief from constipation. And the good old Syrup Pepsin makes this laxative so comfortable and easy on your stomach. Even finicky children love the taste of this pleasant family laxative. Take Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Senna combined with Syrup Pepsin, as directed on label or as your doctor advises, and feel world's better. Get genuine Dr. Caldwell's.

BUTCHERS CAUSE MEAT SHORTAGE

Union Predicts All Shops To Be Closed In San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO —(INS)— The metropolitan San Francisco area was virtually without meat today as a walkout of butchers aggravated an already serious shortage brought about by federal government restrictions.

The walkout came when 487 members of the Slaughterhouse Workers union, Local 508, refused to report for work in a dispute over an 11-cent an hour wage increase demand. Eight large packing houses, which supply more than half of the bay area's meat needs, were shut down.

The union predicted that virtually every meat shop in the city would be forced to close down by noon today.

NIGHT BATTLES RIP JAP FLEET

with radio equipment, which gives them the advantage of having reports on everything we do, all our plans and ship movements and almost complete data on our operations and forces," he told newsmen.

Our problem is to eliminate these observation patrols so we can do something without being seen. We know the enemy is greatly disappointed he didn't get supplies and reinforcements, and he is especially lacking in beans and bullets.

"We know we have plenty of men there, and that they have enough to do the job we set out to do—expel the Japs—and that our men have the proper punch to do it."

For this all-out offensive, the Japs assembled at Rabaul all of the forces they could from powerhouses in the vast western Pacific, the admiral said, adding that "part of this was destined for Guadalcanal and part for New Guinea, but it looks like they were disappointed in both cases."

So great was the confusion of the part of Japan's naval units that at one time two Japanese forces were firing at each other.

"We hope," he commented wryly, "that they matched their usual high skill in that engagement."

Battleships of both sides participated in these brief, bitter fights, two night engagements and one early affair, but the Japanese were without airplane carriers.

"Either they didn't have any left, their losses being greater in the Oct. 26 engagement than we estimated, or they didn't choose to risk them," Admiral Nimitz said.

Nimitz estimated between 20,000 and 40,000 Jap troops went down on the sunken transports, which he described as "jammed full."

If he were a Jap commander, he said, "I'd be sweating and bleeding if I had to explain such a loss."

Our over-all loss of personnel was relatively small while that of Japan was tremendous, he said.

With a further note of optimism, Admiral Nimitz recalled that months ago he mentioned that "we were behind the eight-ball" but now "things are looking up all the time. I don't think we are so close to the eight-ball now. However, we have not reached the stage where we can roam carefree over the ocean."

CLAMPS DOWN ON BINGO AGAIN

No Commercial Play To Be Permitted Regardless of 'Fixing,' Chief Says.

to make himself unavailable to a News-Journal reporter and acted as though he had not heard a request for a conference.

He closeted himself in his office in a conference with another city official. He also declined to be interviewed yesterday.

A telephone call from a woman who represented herself as a rural resident brought the bingo action Saturday night by police. The woman said she had heard that bingo would be resumed, but unless she were certain, did not want to drive to Mansfield.

Having a tip on the Playtime, Capt. Schwab dispatched patrolmen to the hall where they found the building owner and manager whom they escorted to the station for questioning. When told that "everything has been fixed" Schwab telephoned Chief Bell for instruction and reported he had been advised that "under the conditions" the game should not be stopped that night.

Bell today indicated that bona fide private clubs would not be disturbed so long as play was restored to club membership. The same would be true of games in private homes, he said.

Existing city ordinances, however, authorize police to break into any place where gaming devices are exhibited, and to destroy such equipment.

Landlords, managers and players alike are subject to penalty under the city's gambling ordinances.

SHIP TORPEDOED

Navy Reveals Sinking Of Norway Ship In Atlantic.

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The navy announced today that a medium sized Norwegian merchant vessel was torpedoed and sunk by an enemy submarine about the middle of October in the Atlantic off the northern coast of South America and that survivors have been landed at an east coast port.

CHEST COLD MISERY

FIRST—rub throat, chest, and back with Vicks VapoRub at bedtime.

THEN—spread a thick layer of VapoRub on the chest and cover with a warmed cloth.

RIGHT AWAY, VapoRub goes to work—loosens phlegm—eases muscular soreness or tightness—helps clear upper air passages—relieves coughing. Brings wonderful comfort and invites restful sleep.

IRREGULARITY CONTINUES TO SHADE MARKET

Scrap Shortage Declared No Longer Factor In Steel Tonnage Production.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Irregular price shifts continued to dominate today's early stock market proceedings.

Up fractionally were Bethlehem, General Foods, Reynolds Tobacco "B" and Corn Products. Lower were General Motors, Western Union, Radio Corp., General Electric, Standard Oil (N. J.) and Johns-Manville.

Boardrooms found some satisfaction in the survey of the magazine "Steel" which said that scrap shortage no longer was a factor in current production, sufficient tonnage being provided for immediate needs.

Easing of the scrap situation for the moment, the review added, has not lessened efforts to bring out more dormant supplies and campaigns for collecting this material among industrial sources were being pushed vigorously.

Kaiser Shows How He Builds Liberty Ships

Aided by David A. Oppenheim (right), one of his production managers, shipbuilder Henry J. Kaiser demonstrates with a model how his ships are constructed in record-breaking time. In 10 minutes, using 81 scale-model parts, he put together the 14-foot model of the freighter which his Richmond, Calif., yard recently sent down the ways in 4 days and 15 hours. Kaiser constructed the model before maritime officials and others at the United Seamen's Service center in New York City.

HIKES 32 MILES AT 82

FORT WORTH, Tex.—(U.P.)—Bob Sullivan's gait was a little slower than usual—but there was a reason. The day before, the wiry little man had celebrated his 82nd birthday by hiking to Dallas—32 miles away—and was stiff from the long walk, but he didn't give in to it. He was up bright and early and took a walk to limber up.

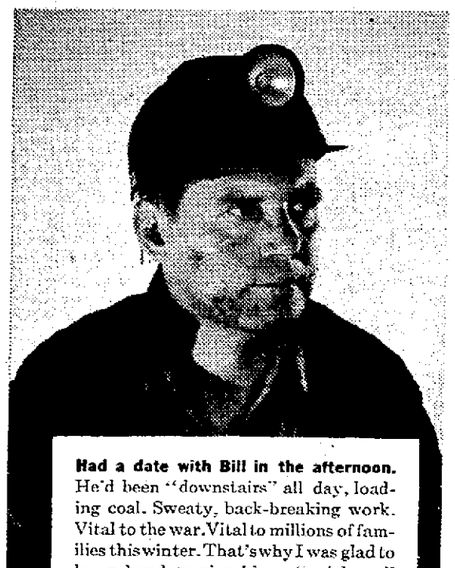
SERVES IN MUFTI

OMAHA, Neb. —(U.P.)— Forty years in the army and never in a uniform. That's the record of Mike P. Noriega, 62, a civil service employe of the seventh service command here.

He has served all over the world, but always in a civilian capacity, although he spent much time in danger zones in the Philippines and elsewhere.

Saw Hank about noon. He was just back in camp from a morning on the rifle range. Squinting through a gunsight. Holding a lively, bucking Garand rifle on the target again and again. But at the camp canteen my frosty lift scored the bull's-eye with Hank.



Had a date with Bill in the afternoon. He'd been "downstairs" all day, loading coal. Sweaty, back-breaking work. Vital to the war. Vital to millions of families this winter. That's why I was glad to be on hand to give him a "quick-up."

Met Betty on the swing shift. She'd been running a precision drill for hours. Neck bent! Attention fixed! But when recess time came, I turned it into a pleasant bit of relaxation that made her keen for the job again.

So it goes . . . round the clock. More than a million and a half times each hour, Americans reach for soft drinks. Americans who are working, fighting, going all-out to win the war.

That means 24-hour duty for me. Any minute . . . every minute I'm ready to bring them a lift and a fresh start. Ready to bring them the same quality they've known for years as best by taste-test. And determined to maintain the quality, even if occasionally the quantity runs short.

TOMORROW TO OPEN GASOLINE REGISTRATION

Those With Names A to G To Report at Schools; Others on Thursday, Friday.

MODIFIES TIRE ORDER

OPA Says Those Who Haven't Turned in Extra Tires Can Fill Out Transfer.

Everyone from Abbe to Gygax, according to the Mansfield city directory who owns a passenger auto or motorcycle will register tomorrow for his or her basic mileage gasoline ration "A" book at one of the city's elementary or grade schools.

In Wednesday's opening registration all persons whose last names begin with letters from A to G inclusive will submit their applications between 2 and 9 p. m.

Likewise, following the directory's name chronology, registration Thursday will be from Haag to Sziraki, or letters H to S inclusive with the same hours prevailing.

Friday's registration will be from Taddeo to Zychick or T to Z, inclusive, and at the 2 to 9 p. m. period.

Public school teachers have received their instructions to serve as registrars and have been assigned to the schools where they will receive completed applications. School principals have been assigned as registrars. The same organization has been carried out for Richland county village and rural schools, with the hours generally being from 4 to 8 p. m.

The Madison school district has set up two registration days, Wednesday and Friday with none on Thursday. Registrations will take place at the Woodville, East Mansfield and Lincoln Heights

IN GOOD HEALTH

Rickenbacker Being Treated on Pacific Island.

NEW YORK —(INS)— Capt. Edward V. (Eddie) Rickenbacker is in "very good health" and is being treated on a South Pacific island—but the location is a "military secret" even from his wife.

"I tried to find out where he was with no success but I did find out how he was and that was most important," Mrs. Rickenbacker said today. "I was worried."

She had no direct word from her famed flier husband since he was found by a navy plane after spending 24 days aboard a rubber raft in the Pacific. Capt. Rickenbacker and his crew of seven were forced down when their plane ran out of gas. One of the men, Sgt. Alexander Kaczmarczyk, who was aboard Rickenbacker's raft, died and was buried at sea but all the survivors were given good chances to recover.

$155,000 SEEN FOR WAR CHEST

Total Keeps Growing as More Pledges Arrive; $153,754 Received So Far.

Community War Chest headquarters today saw a chance that its fund-raising campaign will reach the $155,000 figure.

With $2.728 more tabulated at headquarters today the total reached $153,754, against a goal of $140,377 with more pledges to come.

Additional contributions included $72.85 from Senior high school, $24.85 from Western school and $3.28 from Bushnell. These figures together with $1,000 more from industry and more than $1,700 from rural sections increased the figure today.

Rural reports included: Lucas, Mrs. H. Steward, major, $41; Lexington, Dr. F. B. Barr, major, $160.25; Butler, Rev. W. A. Hewitt and R. C. Reherd, majors, $116.05; Washington township, partial report. Mrs. S. M. Mishey, major, $12; Monroe township, Mrs. Lloyd Adams, major, $342.

BARBARA BENNET 'JUST RESTING'

Actress Puzzled at 'Fuss' Over Her Disappearance.

HOLLYWOOD —(U.P.)— Barbara Bennett, sister of Actresses Constance and Joan Bennett, said today she couldn't understand "all the fuss" raised over her three-day disappearance.

She said she had gone to a rest home because of the shock suffered over her recent failure to regain custody of her five children from her former husband, Singer Morton Downey.

She was in complete seclusion, she said, and was unaware that rumors of tragedy were circulating.

Her husband, Addison Randall, former cowboy actor, reported to police Saturday that Miss Bennett had failed to return to her home Friday night.

CHIEF CLAMPS DOWN AGAIN ON BINGO GAMES

No Commercial Play To Be Permitted Regardless of 'Fixing,' He Says.

'PLAYTIME' TO CEASE

Bell Declares Only Bona Fide Private Clubs To Operate For Members.

Clamping down another lid on bingo today, Police Chief Thomas M. Bell declared no commercial enterprise of that nature will be permitted, regardless of any claims of "fixing."

He announced this stand after an alleged bingo game operator and the owner of the building housing the 'Playtime" had claimed Saturday night,' on being brought to the police station, that "everything had been fixed upstairs."

The Playtime has been ordered to halt bingo operations, the chief said, and he added that the game operated commercially would not be permitted anywhere else.

The chief declared he was "dumbfounded" Saturday night when Police Captain Jesse Schwab telephoned him and relayed to him the statement of the two men that "everything had been fixed."

However, he said, he advised Schwab not to hold the men or prefer charges against them until he could ascertain exactly what was the status of the situation, since it might have been possible that the Playtime had a club status, which might have allowed members to play.

The chief said he had received no orders to allow any bingo games to operate, and that after considering the situation he was repeating his earlier statement that bingo games would not be allowed to operate.

SHE'S HOME

Mrs. Roosevelt Returns, FDR Meets Her at Airport.

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — Mrs. Roosevelt returned today from her war inspection trip to Great Britain.

The White House disclosed that the president went to an airport near Washington to greet his wife this morning. She began her trip on Oct. 21.

While in England, Mrs. Roosevelt was entertained by the king and queen of England, saw Prime Minister Winston Churchill and visited with American troops in Ireland and other parts of the British Isles.

The White House did not reveal any details of Mrs. Roosevelt's return journey, but the fact that the president met her at an airport indicated that she returned by airplane.

18 and 19-Year-Olds Get Draft Blanks During Week

State Sends Out Order, Clerks Here Say 800 to Be Contacted, Some Being Inducted In January.

Richland county selective service boards expect to mail questionnaires to their 18- and 19-year-old registrants before the end of this week and probably will call the first of the younger group of boys for induction in January.

State draft officials in Columbus said today they had issued instructions to local boards to send questionnaires immediately to the registrants in the 18-20 age group.

While Richland county board clerks said today they had not received the "go" sign from the state, they expect to have instructions by Wednesday and will have the blanks mailed within a day or two.

It was estimated that there are 800 registrants in the county who are in the 18-20 age group. Ohio has approximately 140,000 of them.

Part of the December call will be made up of married men with no children, but as soon as boards start inducting the registrants under 20, the married men will have a respite until the reservoir of younger men is exhausted, state draft officials said.

Most estimates placed the supply as enough to fill about two months' calls, probably January and February. After that, married men without children will be called; then those with one child will be inducted.

Board 3 sent its largest group of men to Cleveland today for final examinations and induction. Included in the contingent were Charles Letizia, Mansfield motorcycle patrolman; Harland McCormic, Shelby city patrolman, and Edward Lysinger, Shelby fireman.

Members of the group who meet army requirements and are inducted will have 13 days at home before they start training.

NAMED AS SPIES

2 Rumanian Priests Indicted By Federal Grand Jury.

DETROIT — (AP) — The federal grand jury today indicated two priests of the Rumanian Orthodox church and an editor on charges of espionage.

The priests are Father Ghighaerie Moraru of Dearborn, Mich., identified in the indictment as leader in North America of the Free Rumanian movement; and Father Stephan Opreanu of Detroit. Opreanu and George Zamfir, Detroit editor of Rumanian publications, were named as agents of Moraru.

Louis M. Hopping, assistant district attorney, said Moraru twice visited the former King Carol of Rumania in Mexico and received $13,000 from him to further the movement.

Need Explanation Of Farmer Deferment In 'Teen Draft

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Selective service headquarters said today the new 'teen-age draft bill's provision for deferring farm workers was so badly stated that an official interpretation would be required.

Spokesmen said the provision, which some congressional proponents had said during debate would make little if any change in previous regulations, was being studed closely at headquarters preparatory to issuance of a definition for local boards.

The language of the clause follows:

"Every registrant found by a selective service local board, subject to appeal in accordance with Section 10 (A) (2,) to be necessary to and regularly engaged in an agricultural occupation or endeavor essential to the war effort, shall be deferred from training and service in the land and naval forces."

Although agriculture already was listed among some 39 activities designated as "essential to the support of the war effort," it was the only one given special deferment status through legislation.

This factor apparently has given rise to some concern at national headquarters that varying or extreme interpretations of the provision among the 6,500 local boards, some of which deal almost exclusively with farm workers, might upset quotas and calls.

Regulations which have been in effect for some time covering deferments in agriculture as one of the essential activities permit local boards to reclassify 3-A farm workers as 3-B, adding occupational deferment to the dependency,

RAF Batters Tunis Airport, French Forces Reported With Yanks on Way to Front.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON —(INS)— Secretary of State Cordell Hull today conferred with Secretary of War Stimson and Secretary of the Navy Knox on the North African situation.

(By Associated Press)

LONDON — A German report that British and American motorized forces have reached the southern Tunisian border area suggested today that the Allies might be aiming two armored spearheads into Tunisia, one toward Bizerte and Tunis along the coast, and the other through desert and mountain trails directly toward Tripoli to trap Axis forces in North Africa.

There was no word from Allied sources that the battle yet was joined, but German broadcasts said Nazi planes bombed British and American mobile columns sweeping along the coastal road from Algeria to Bizerte and in the southern border area of Tunisia.

What was meant by the southern border area was not defined, but it was recalled here that as early as the middle of last week an American force from Algeria was reported moving southeast on th Bou-Saada road in the direction of lower Tunisia and a shortcut to Tripoli.

Nothing has been repor[illegible]m this column since.

Other desert trails, it was noted, lead to southern Tunisia from the Lake Chad region where American and fighting French forces have been reported gathered in the north of French Equatorial Africa. It is roughly 1,000 miles from the Lake Chad country to the Tunisian border, however.

Meanwhile bad weather over the Libyan desert curtailed aerial activity, and a United States communique from Cairo said American reconnaissance planes patroled the desert without encount-

State Approves Tax Rates Set Up For County

Richland county's 1942 tax rates, set up recently by Auditor Norman L. Wolfe, had been approved today by the state tax commission, the auditor was informed.

The Mansfield rate of 16.20 mills, upon which taxes paid next year will be based, is .20 of a mill higher than the present rate. Taxes collected this year were figured on the basis of the 1941 rates.

The increase, the auditor pointed out, is due to the placing of the Senior high school bonds outside the 10-mill limitation so as to provide more operating funds for the schools.

Shelby's new rate is 16 mills, a decrease of .40 of a mill. Payment of school and city bonds dropped the amounts needed for debts and brought the reduction, the auditor said.

Lexington village still has the highest rate in the county at 20.80 mills. Lucas, which voted a tax increase at the recent election, is a close second with 19.40 mills. The lowest rate in the county is 10.50 mills in Mifflin township.

Knox Says Foe Might Return Despite Defeat

Calls Three-Day Action Major Victory As Enemy Loses 11 Warships, 12 Other Vessels Sunk, 7 Damaged; 8 U. S. Warcraft Go Down.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Secretary of Navy Knox said today that the United States clearly had won round two of the battle for the Solomon Islands, but that it "must not be forgotten" that there may be a round three.

The secretary called last week's American naval victory—which cost the Japanese 11 warships and 12 other vessels sunk and 7 ships damaged—a major action, but not a decisive one.

Japanese personnel losses may have run from 20,000 to 30,000.

"We have at the moment," Knox said in response to a press conference question, "naval supremacy around Guadalcanal."

He declined to claim more advantage than that strategically, but commenting on the overall result of the greatest naval engagement since the battle of Jutland in the World war, said that it leaves American forces "in complete and undisputed possession of the (Guadalcanal-Tulagi) area and of the Island of Guadalcanal and the airfield there and has caused the enemy very severe losses both in ships and personnel."

The effect of these losses, Knox said, obviously will be hurtful to the Japanese navy, but he declined to say that the Jap fleet had been crippled.

"No doubt," he declared, "the processes of attrition operate more against them than against us.

Jap Navy Swept To Disaster In Greatest Night Sea War

By WALTER B. CLAUSEN

PEARL HARBOR, T. H.—(AP)—Japan's naval hordes swept down on the Solomon islands to disaster in their all-out effort to smash American power in the South Pacific.

When full details of those three short but fiery engagements northwest of Guadalcanal on Nov. 13-15 become known, they will tell a story of not only the greatest naval battles ever staged at night, but also of the fiercest slugging combats in all naval history.

It was a most costly demonstration to Japan that not only have American forces complete control of the land, sea and sky there, but also they have the force to carry on an offensive.

"I think they brought everything they had," said Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet, significantly.

"As a result, all the enemy forces were either destroyed or driven back, and a major victory was obtained by our gallant forces."

The admiral said he was certain the victory would result in the immediate strengthening of the hold we now have on Guadalcanal and the eventual expulsion of the enemy from that strategic island.

The Japs on Guadalcanal, he said, are suffering from the lack of two things: beans and bullets.

"They have bands of men in the upper reaches of the island

M'Arthur Leads Yanks, Aussies Against Jap's Buna Base

(By Associated Press)

GEN. M'ARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia—Led by General MacArthur, jungle-toughened American and Australian troops forged within heavy cannon shot of Buna today, ready to fight the Japanese for that key Papuan base or take it by default.

The commander-in-chief of the southwest Pacific went into the field himself to direct the campaign and with him were General Sir Thomas Blamey, his commander of Allied land forces, and Lieut. Gen. George C. Kenney, his commander of Allied air forces.

Today's headquarters communique said that Australian patrols had reached the vicinity of Awala, only 30 miles by trail from Buna, with Australian and American forces closing in rapidly from the west and south against a steadily retreating enemy.

The Japanese faced either a last-ditch stand or an attempt to flee by sea. Buna is their only coastal toehold in Papaua but up the New Guinea coast they have strongholds at Lae and Salamaua, some 150 miles away.

American B-25 medium bombers and A-20 attack planes teamed with Australian Beaufighters to strafe and bomb the retreating enemy around buna

BALM FOR U. S. TAXPAYERS--- CANADIANS PAY MUCH MORE

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON. Scoring passage of the most complicated tax bill in history, congressmen today offered American taxpayers the cold comfort that they are in Canada.

[illegible] Canadian [illegible] the Canadian income tax [illegible] Canadian [illegible] Canadian income [illegible] Canadians [illegible]

[illegible] Canadian [illegible] the [illegible] Canadian [illegible] Canadian [illegible] Canadians [illegible]

The Canadian [illegible] income levy will be deducted largely from the corporate profits [illegible] taxable income at the source and at the same time [illegible] half of the direct tax [illegible] to the government.

The excess tax applicable to individual [illegible] income will consist of a flat tax on gross income plus a graduated tax on income [illegible] personal exemption of $660, the publication reported.

At the same time it pointed out that not all of the amounts to be paid are permanently lost to the taxpayer since a portion is to be refunded after the war with 2 per cent interest.

Earning $4,000 a year a Canadian couple with two children will pay $344 in tax and the same amount in forced saving.

The savings portion is formulated on the principle that it will be 50 per cent of the total tax or in any case not more than 40 per cent of gross income for single persons and not more than 10 per cent of gross income for married persons.

With rates reaching into almost astronomical proportions provision had to be made to take care of those who already had heavy obligations. The new law provides that deductions may be made from the savings portion of the tax for payments on retirement and pension funds, on life insurance premiums, and for the principal payments on a mortgage or agreement of sale existing prior to June 23, 1942 on one residential property.

"Unusual medical expenses are deductible from taxable income inasfar as they exceed five per cent of the taxpayer's income, says the Commerce report, 'but are subject to certain limitations of $400 for single persons or $600 for a married person.'"

A point of major importance in the Canadian law is the provision that the income of working wife does not deprive the husband of his marital status for tax purposes. Working couples will have a combined exception before taxation of $1,260 although in general the tax on husband and wife made per one of the income of each exceed $660. The reason for this is to attract married women for employment in war industries on which the Dominion depend greatly.

Another important feature of the new law is the assurance that the income of no other power of taxation by bodies other than the Dominion government.

Provincial and municipal [illegible] signed the income tax [illegible] government agreement. In the light of previous taxation the new rate are extra [illegible] them but they represent the only income tax payment for such corporations and individuals.

[illegible] the new plan the employee by the end of the next 12 months [illegible] days from September [illegible] will have paid up 90 [illegible] of [illegible] tax liabilities [illegible] in the installment plan. This includes the tax credit allowed up. A balance of 10 per cent [illegible] be paid in September 1943. If the tax law continues [illegible] the tax credit will become [illegible] and accumulated since this tax credit then will have [illegible] limited.

The Ice Follies of 1943 with a cast of 110 top flight skaters opens at the Cleveland Arena Sunday and runs through Nov. 29 with closing with a Sunday matinee.

Sex lures to appear are blond Petty Atkinson who has been acclaimed a fan idol overnight in the role where Ice Follies has already played this year, Norah McCarthy, the Canadian and North American women's senior figure skating champions brings new routines to the 1943 edition. Bobby Blake and Johnny Kinney two new comedy sensations present something entirely new in figure skating technique.

Among the old favorites of long standing are Shipstad and Johnson, Roy Shipstad, Hemie Brock, Frick and Frack, the Galbraith brothers, the McKellen brothers, Mac Ross and many others whose new routines are geared to an exceptionally fast tempo. Again the Veterans of Foreign Wars are sponsoring the follies.

Montgomery Ward's Reply to the NATIONAL WAR LABOR BOARD

November 13, 1942

National War Labor Board
Department of Labor Building
Washington, D. C.

Gentlemen:

We have the National War Labor board's order of November 5.* In this order the board demands that Montgomery Ward & company enter into a contract establishing a form of closed shop called "maintenance of membership," together with a check-off of union dues from wages. Under this form of closed shop, the employees who are members of the union would not be free to resign from the union without being discharged, and Wards would not be free to retain a competent worker who had resigned from the union. This making of union membership of condition of employment is the essence of the closed shop, whatever form it may take. "Maintenance of membership" is the starting phase which inevitably leads to the full closed shop.

The president of the United States is quoted as having said on November 14, 1941: "The government of the United States will not order, nor will congress pass legislation ordering, the so-called closed shop." Wards is in agreement with this statement and believes that the board's order is not in accordance with the president's principles.

Wards believes that the board's demands not only violate the fundamental principles of liberty but are economically unsound and are illegal under the terms of the National Labor Relations act.

If the board's order against Wards is enforced, the pattern will be established by which all unions in all industries can secure a form of closed shop and check-off merely by appealing to the War Labor board.

The board further ordered a form of compulsory arbitration for Wards. Wards is not opposed to voluntary arbitration. However, Wards' management should not, as demanded by the board, abandon responsibilities which have been vested in it by the owners of the corporation, and so surrender to to outside arbitrators the final decision on all matters which the union may wish to treat as grievances.

The board further ordered that Wards guarantee its wages and other working conditions for a one-year period. Wards believes that a fixed duration of one year is unsound in these uncertain times.

Wards operates in a highly competitive field composed of one million seven hundred fifty thousand retail establishments. It is unfair to impose burdens upon Wards and not upon those with whom it is in competition.

Wards efforts to preserve the essential freedoms between itself and its employees have not been prompted by any feeling of anti-unionism. The report of the mediation panel expressly recognizes this fact. Wards policy has been to obey the law. Wards has twenty-nine union contracts with both A. F. of L. and C. I. O. unions.

Wards has already given its employees the increases in wages previously recommended by the board. Wards did this even though its wages were already as high as or higher than those prevailing in the industry and had been increased an average of over 21% since January 1941. Wards is willing to include these increases in a contract with the union. There is no issue over wages.

The War Labor board was created by the president to replace the old Defense Mediation board. The mediation board was destroyed by the resignation of the union members following the board's vote of nine to two against a closed shop in the captive coal mine case. The War Labor board, in name only, is composed of representatives of the unions, of industry, and of the public. The union representatives are men chosen for leadership by the unions and have actually protected the interests of the unions. On the other hand, neither industry nor the public have had any voice in the selection of those who presumably represent them. By their decisions, the supposed representatives of industry and of the public have because of inexperience, prejudice or lack of understanding, abandoned the interests of those whom they were appointed to represent.

Under the constitution, congress is the sole law-making authority. If closed shops and compulsory arbitration are to become requirements upon employers, it is congress and not the War Labor board which should make them so. Congress has not empowered the board to order any employer to do any of the things it demands of Wards.

Accordingly, Wards rejects the orders of the board. If congress imposes closed shops, compulsory arbitration or contracts for a year's duration on employers, or if the President of the United States, as commander-in-chief in time of war, directs that Wards accept the board's rulings, which we earnestly believe are illegal and uneconomic, we will respectfully obey.

Yours very truly,

MONTGOMERY WARD and COMPANY

President.

Jap Fleet Smashed In Round 2 of Sea War

Knox Warns Foe Might Return Despite Loss of 23 Warships, More Than 20,000 Troops In Battle.

Remember that we build faster with our greater resources than they do. But remember also that the Japanese operate pretty much in home waters and adjacent waters. Our navy is spread all over the seven seas. While the Japanese fleet has suffered severely to date it is still operating in comparatively narrow waters."

The secretary was asked whether, if the Japanese come back to the southeastern Solomons with a strong naval force, our forces would again defeat them.

He replied that "We will defeat them—I don't know when or in what action."

Knox said that the enemy had had numerical superiority in the theater of action during the period of the battle ending last week-end, and said the American triumph had been won in spite of that.

"I cannot speak in too high praise of the qualities displayed by the navy in this action," the secretary asserted.

"Nimitz, Halsey, Callaghan and others not only met and drove from the field a numerically superior force but also they employed the most daring type of action to accomplish that result," he said in naming the admirals largely concerned.

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz is commander in chief of the Pacific fleet, Vice Admiral William F. Halsey is commander in the South Pacific area and Rear Admiral Daniel J. Callaghan, former White House naval aide, was one of the commanders in the battle. He was killed in action.

Knox relayed to his press conference a message from Major General Alexander Vandegrift, the marine commander on Guadalcanal. Vandegrift, Knox said, described the outcome of the naval action, which he obviously had watched with the utmost concern, as a crushing defeat for the Japanese.

There has been no further word from the battle area on the still unreported results of what apparently was the conclusive encounter of the running sea battle of last week. This encounter occurred on the night of Nov. 14-15 and Knox said information as to results was still lacking here, but would be released as quickly as possible once it came in.

Asked why each side was investing so heavily in the battle for control of the outheastern Solomons, Knox said the islands were obviously of first class importance to the United States because they flank our lines of communication and supply with Australia and from them the Japanese could make direct attack on those lines.

Knox called the Solomons battle the "greatest surface action of this war to date" but said it was not "greater than Jutland."

In a savage three-day conflict that sent the foe's battered naval remnants into hiding, 23 Nipponese ships were sunk, seven more damaged and possibly 20,000 to 40,000 Japanese troops were lost in the swirl of sunken transports.

First details of the battle that ranged from Nov. 13 to 15 were released by the navy last night. Further reports may boost the staggering toll taken of enemy ships but already the victory was hailed by naval officers unofficially as the greatest of the war thus far, and perhaps of modern times.

The partial reports listed the sinking of a Japanese battleship, three heavy cruisers, two light cruisers, five destroyers, eight crowded transports and four cargo ships. The American losses were given as two light cruisers and six destroyers.

Thus, in 11 months of war, Associated Press records show that 365 Japanese ships have been sent to the bottom of the Pacific as against 84 American vessels, including those at Pearl Harbor.

Of these losses 119 were Japanese warships and 50 were American.

Much of the running sea fight was fought at close range and in darkness. So furious was the action that at one time two of three large Japanese units that converged for an attack on prized Guadalcanal island "seemed confused," the navy said, and "were firing at each other."

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander in chief of the Pacific fleet, declared at Pearl Harbor last night he believed the Japanese "brought down everything they had."

"As a result," he added, "all the enemy forces were either destroyed or driven back and a major victory was obtained by our gallant forces."

While battleships took part in the gigantic naval engagement, the Japanese brought no airplane carriers to bear. Nimitz expressed belief the foe either had no carriers left or "didn't choose to risk them." No mention was made as to whether American carriers participated.

Nimitz's assertion that "both sides had battleships and that our battleships contributed to the loss of the enemy to a great degree," was the first official disclosure of the presence of the big U. S. battlewagons in the southwestern Pacific fighting. So far they have not been mentioned specifically in navy department communiques.

The navy's description of the spectacular combat, fought under the immediate direction of Vice Admiral William F. Halsey, told of the discovery early this month of heavy Japanese shipping concentrations in the New Britain-northwestern Solomons area. This was the beginning of an attempted major assault to recapture Henderson airfield and other American positions in the Guadalcanal-Tulagi region.

The Rising Sun's offensive was under way Nov. 10 with three naval forces steaming to the attack. One prong approached the southeastern Solomons from the north. The other detachments, counting many transports, closed in from Rabaul and Buin, where they already had felt the lash of bombs from Gen. Douglas MacArthur's planes.

The foe's spearhead—two battleships of the Kongo class, two heavy cruisers, four light cruisers and about 10 destroyers—boiled into the Guadalcanal battle zone after midnight of Nov. 13.

An intended bombardment of the American-held airfield preparatory to a large scale landing of troops was thwarted suddenly by American warships arriving at the right moment. It was in this close-range battle that the Japanese vessels slammed away at each other, unwittingly committing a sort of naval hara-kiri.

The engagement also brought the death of Rear Admiral Daniel J. Callaghan, former naval aide to President Roosevelt. His flagship, which blew up an enemy cruiser, scored 18 hits on a battleship and sank a destroyer, finally took several 14-inchells. The bridge was wrecked and Callaghan, "Uncle Dan" to many a navy man, was killed.

Daylight brought retirement of what remained of the Nipponese fleet. United States aircraft picked off crippled enemy vessels left behind as the foe retreated northward.

Stubbornly, the Japanese tried again to land heavy reinforcements for their forces on Guadalcanal. That afternoon 12 transports loaded with troops and heavily guarded by warships were spotted moving on to the embattled island from the Bougainville area.

Shortly after midnight on Nov. 14, the Nipponese warships fired round after round at the American positions on the island. Then their transports closed in for a landing.

American planes struck quickly and viciously. Torpedoes and bombs smashed into the heavily-loaded transports and eight went to the bottom. The four others eluded the barrage and maneuvered toward Guadalcanal.

Four cargo transports, presumably these same vessels that had escaped the slaughter, were discovered the following day beached at Tassafaronga about seven and a half miles west of Guadalcanal. Air, artillery and naval gun fire reduced them to wreckage.

Meanwhile, other Japanese warships collided again with American forces during the night of Nov 14-15 near Guadalcanal The navy was awaiting full reports on this encounter

The sea battle ended that morning. A United States air patrol sighted the remainder of the Japanese fleet limping northward. It did not reappear.

Regardless of what enemy officers thought, spokesmen from the land of the Rising Sun claimed in short wave radio broadcasts that the American fleet had been annihilated again.

The federal communications commission reported in New York yesterday that Tokyo propagandists contended the battle of the Solomons "is proving fatal to the American navy"; that "the Japanese have the Americans where they want them and mean to keep them there until no American warship is left in active service"

The figures, as reported by the United States Navy, however, show that the Solomons conflict has resulted in destruction of 35 Japanese ships with five others probably sunk and 71 damaged. The American losses were given as 24 vessels sunk and at least five damaged.

Tokyo Calls It 'Miserable Defeat'

NEW YORK—(AP)—The Office of War Information recorded a Tokyo broadcast today in which the Japanese people were told the American navy's "miserable defeat is kept in the dark" by the navy communique disclosing the crippling blows administered to Japan in the latest Solomon islands action.

Curiously, this Japanese-language broadcast for home consumption was followed up by trumpetings beamed to the United States about the "honesty" of Japanese communiques. Other English language broadcasts, repeated over and over again the imperial high command's exaggerated claims of virtual destruction of American naval power in the Solomons.

The regional office of price administration today modified the regulation requiring turning-in of automobile tires by car owners before they may obtain basic A gasoline ration books.

If the Railway Express company has been unable to pick up surplus tires or the owner has been unable to deliver them himself, he may fill out a special form obtained from his ration site and sign title of the tires over to the government.

In this form the owner assumes responsibility for keeping the tires in good condition while they are being held for delivery to the government. Of course, they must not be used during this period, the OPA pointed out.

With the filing out of this special form, the car owner will be eligible for the basic book.

In addition, each owner must pledge not to drive in excess of 35 miles an hour, the victory speed fixed by the Office for Defense Transportation and the Office of Price Administration.

Applications for A books must have been signed by the car owner although another person may submit the form for registration. Any owner can sign for each passenger auto he owns, making a separate application for each one.

James Bailey, executive secretary of the Richland rationing board, said today he didn't think any action started in congress will defer or eliminate the gasoline rationing program as set up at present. He admitted, however, that congressional action might soon reduce rationing restrictions or eliminate the program entirely

In Cleveland the Office of Price Administration has asked the Federal Bureau of Investigation to seek the source of rumors that a second postponement will be necessary. The OPA declares registration will begin tomorrow as scheduled.

As central and western states today completed registration arrangements east coast motorists were faced with a one-gallon cut in the value of their gasoline ration coupons in order to save 80,000 barrels of petroleum products daily.

Meanwhile transportation committees in local war plants employing 100 or more are determining the needs of their plant employes for supplemental rationing with an emphasis on the riding-sharing program urged by the ODT.

Announcement likely will be made tomorrow by the rationing board's gasoline panel of the dates and hours for registration for supplemental gas coupons. W. J. Spreng, panel chairman, will return from a week's hunting in northern Michigan tomorrow.

Mansfield's war transportation board, headed by Clyde K. Smaltz, local administrator for conservation of vital war transportation, is conducting a traffic survey which includes a ride-sharing solution for individual plants, improved area parking for neighborhood groops, routing and other matters.

To aid in decisions on challenged applications for supplemental rationing the panel will be aided by a board of reviewers comprised of 30 business and industrial men.

ALLIES AIMING DOUBLE DRIVE AT TUNISIA

ering the enemy. British reports also suggested that Field Marshal Rommel's withdrawal had outdistanced the British Eighth army in pursuit across the hump of Cirenaica.

Military sources in London said that what was left of Rommel's force had been able to delay pursuit enough by rear guard action and mines to prevent General Montgomery from delivering the coup de grace.

Reports that the Germans had landed 12-ton tanks by air in Tunisia suggested to London observers that the first of two newly organized Nazi panzer airborne divisions were being thrown into the Tunisian test. One of these divisions numbers some 7,500 fighting troops, 2,500 service troops, and more than 200 tanks

Berlin broadcasts quoted articles in the Nazi-controlled Paris press in an effort to support the Axis thesis that the Germans and Italians moved into Tunisia "with the full understanding and approval of French authorities."

Le Matin was quoted as saying that the announcement of the move from Berlin and Rome would have come only after the Axis troops were solidly in position

"Now Rommel is covered on his western flank," Le Matin was quoted as commenting, "and he can therefore continue his retreat movements under the best conditions."

In the air and, to a lesser extent, at sea, the battle already was joined as Malta-based planes of the RAF continued to batter at the Axis-held airport near Tunis, but a spokesman at Allied headquarters in North Africa said last night reports of fighting between Allied and Axis troops at Bizerte were premature.

Both the radio at Morocco and Axis stations had reported contact between the opposing forces, readying for a clash which will determine the success of the Allied operation in North Africa and probably settle the future of Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's bedraggled Africa corps.

The London Daily Express also said the British and American troops in Tunisia were "reported to be fighting a fierce battle with the Germans near Tunis," but there was no confirmation for the report.

Certain it was that the clash could not be long delayed.

French forces in Tunisia already were fighting the Germans and Italians. The American consul at Tunis said that French troops near Tunis had thrown back German patrols.

The consul added that "the large Italian settlement is frightened to death."

French troops apparently were joining the British and American columns speeding to battle as they passed through the Tunisian countryside.

At Oran, a French force joined United States troops at their Algerian stations, a communique said.

While the activities at sea were clouded in secrecy, the British navy unquestionably was contesting any Axis effort to reinforce the Nazi garrisons in Tunisia by sea and a communique said "the Royal navy maintains control of the western Mediterranean and its approaches."

"This naval force has sustained losses," the communique added, "but these have been small in proportion to the size of operations and casualties on the whole have been light."

The American consul at Tunis on arriving in Algeria said he believed the Germans and Italians were trying to keep the ports of Tunis and Bizerte open to support Marshal Rommel's retreating forces, last reported in the neighborhood of El Agheila, Libya, some 400 miles from his main base at Tripoli.

A German radio report of fighting between Axis and Allied forces in Tunisia said only that a "counter action" was taken against United States forces."

The German-fettered Petain government and its role in the heartening developments in North Africa was a question which closely engaged the attention of Fighting French leaders here in London.

Gen. Charles De Gaulles headquarters issued a statement describing Admiral Jean Darlan as "the No. 2 traitor of France" and declaring the Fighting French were "taking no part whatsoever in negotiations in progress in North Africa with representatives of Vichy."

Other developments in the global war:

Russian Front—Soviet headquarters reported that the Red armies were holding solidly all along the wintry front, even taking the initiative at some points, and declared that 1,500 more Germans were killed as the historic siege of Stalingrad entered its historic week.

Another 1,500 Germans were left dead on the northern battlefield below Leningrad, in the Volkhov sector, where the Russians were reported advancing after a long period of quiet.

Libyan Campaign—Italian headquarters reported fierce fighting across the western desert hump between Derna and Bengasi as Axis forces continued to retreat toward Italian Tripolitania.

London military quarters said desperate Axis rearguard actions had delayed the pursuing British Eighth army enough to prevent Gen. B. L. Montgomery from delivering the coup de grace, but there was still no sign of a determined stand by the beaten enehy.

French Ships Join Allies In Africa

LONDON—(UP)—French merchant ships and some warships have joined the Allies, a dispatch from Allied headquarters in French North Africa indicated today.

United Press Staff Correspondent C. R. Cunningham reported from Allied headquarters that Maj. Gen. George S. Patton, commanding American forces in the western sector, was using French warships.

He reported that French ships that had responded to Eisenhower's appeal to put into North Africa ports were moving Allied equipment from North African ports in the east to Bougie and Bone, near Tunisia.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 17, 1942.

Now there's some talk, which probably won't get very far, of delegating Clare Boothe Luce to edit the Congressional Record—in the hope of increasing reader interest.

Those new rent control blanks are keyed as "Budget Bureau No. 08-R 029-42—Form DD 6-D"—which gives an idea of the intricate and expensive processes under which people are being made to understand that "honesty is the best policy."

Senator Byrd Censures Waste

AS CLEARLY as they knew how, voters at the election held two weeks ago expressed dissatisfaction over the way New Deal administrators in Washington are handling domestic affairs.

One of the chief grounds for complaint is the wasteful spending for non-military purposes and realization that the same spendthrift habits which marked the early years of the New Deal are being continued in spite of heavy demands for money to meet necessary costs of carrying on the war.

Again it is Senator Byrd, Democrat, of Virginia, who enlightens the public on this subject, charging also that "the federal government is the chief offender in the waste and hoarding of manpower."

Senator Byrd, who is chairman of the senate committee on reduction of non-essential federal expenditures, promises that people will soon be told "the whole truth with respect to duplicated activities, the overmanning of practically every agency of government, and the useless employes that are carried on the payrolls of these agencies."

At the end of last August, he said, the civil service commission reported 2,606,300 civilian employes on federal payrolls, with additions at the rate of more than 100,000 a month.

Senator Byrd predicts that Americans will be shocked and indignant to learn that the federal government now has three times as many employes as it did when the 1918 armistice was signed. "On November 11, 1918," he says, "there were 30 agencies of government. Today there are 81 distinct agencies, many of these making no direct contribution to the war effort. . ."

But, supposing Americans do become "shocked and indignant"—what can they do about it? When twelve western senators can dictate the national silver policy, to the detriment of 130,000,000 people, and while Harry Hopkins is in position to authoritatively state "regimentation" intentions of the administration, what hope can there be for adoption of such sound economy measures as are being advocated by Senator Byrd?

Favoritism In Law Enforcement

PARTIALITY in law enforcement is a reprehensible practice. If known violation of law is to be officially sanctioned, because of pressure or "pull" by one individual or group, the same favor may reasonably be expected by anyone who wishes to engage in similar activity, as in the case of bank night "insurance" lotteries. If commercialized bingo is "against the law" for one person or group, it is against the law for all—regardless of whether it is on the first floor, second floor, or in the basement.

The police department is placed in an awkward position by being required to learn each day what the mayor's enforcement policies are to be for that day.

Normal Standards In Abnormal Times

DONALD NELSON, chairman of the War Production Board, may be assumed to know what he is talking about when he tells congress that the American work week must be lengthened. Not only is the present average week's work not long enough, he says, but the workers themselves are not producing enough per person. And there is too much "absenteeism," a lack of faithfulness in sticking to the job, he contends.

He thinks more women must be brought into industry, and there must be a ban on voluntary enlistment in the armed forces, in order to direct productive power into the channels where it is most needed.

Unfortunately the president is not likely to agree with this program. But there is a great body of opinion in this country which holds that labor, while it is doing a good job if judged by normal standards, is not yet working enough hours a day to produce the military equipment and supplies needed for ourselves and the allies dependent on us.

In the present world situation, adherence to a regime that averages less than 48 hours' work a week is certainly not realistic, in the view of our allies working 55 to 60 hours a week. American workmen may produce more per hour than workers in other countries because they are more intelligent, more active, or have better machines. But the question is whether they are measuring up to the needs of the time and to the limit of their ability.

Maybe He Hadn't Been Told

SUCH AN occurrence as the arrest of a 19-year-old youth on the charge of driving an automobile at a speed of 98 miles an hour on a public highway Sunday afternoon causes wonderment and arouses curiosity.

Surely a young man who would drive at such speed hasn't heard about the prescribed 35-mile limit, to conserve tires, and he may not know about the 50-mile limit fixed by state law. He may not even have been told that there's a war going on and that this country is in it.

But even if he doesn't know any of these things it is quite obvious that a person who drives 98 miles an hour on a public highway should be deprived of the privilege of operating a car.

Good Work By 4-H Clubs

HERE are a few of the things 4-H clubs have done, according to a report they have just made to Secretary Wickard of the department of agriculture. They have collected 146,000,000 pounds of scrap metal and 23,000,000 pounds of rubber. They have canned 14,000,000 jars of farm products. They have themselves bought $6,000,000 worth of War Stamps, and sold $3,000,000 worth more.

If it be true that a country is only as good as its youth, then this country is very good indeed.

And then again, the forenoon trade at the liquor stores may not have been very heavy after all.

Time to buy your November war savings bond.

BEATING THE WOLF TO GRANDMA'S HOUSE.

Relations With Russia After War

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON — World democracy's post-war relations with Soviet Russia can't but have been a puzzling thought to heads of the United Nations governments as they were showering Premier Stalin with their felicitations upon the 25th anniversary, recently, of the Bolshevist revolution.

Josef Stalin

Of course, no anti-Axis individual of these congratulations or dissented from the words of praise bestowed upon 'em for the valor of the fight they have been putting up against Herr Hitler's forces, plus a little pro-German aid from Signor Mussolini. Nevertheless, the democratic chorus did sound rather odd, considering its authors' tone of voice toward the Kremlin at the beginning of the current conflict.

True, if, when Hitler first took the warpath, Moscow immediately had proclaimed its democracy and aligned itself against him, the real democracies' appreciation of it would be quite natural.

Russia, however, at that stage of the game, had more or less of an actual alliance with the Reich. We'd disliked the Stalin regime on general principles and its then-existing hook up with Berlin made us all the sorer. Furthermore the Moscow aggregation showed all signs of remaining pro-Axis — not vehemently and belligerently so, but at least passively.

In Self Defense.

It wasn't until the Communist hunch was attacked by the Nazis that they began to resist—because they HAD to on their own account; not from any good will toward the democracies. Indeed, they had no reason to feel any such good will, remembering all the democratic mean things that had been said about 'em.

The fact is that, in so far as Comrade Stalin and his associates are concerned, they've accepted belated democratic tributes rather graciously. They COULD have remarked, "Well, you boys have changed your tone pretty noticeably, but we understand perfectly WHY you've done so." Instead they've been very polite about it.

Personalities have figured in the matter.

Originally Premier Stalin was represented as a regular ogre.

Today he's advertised as a fine, friendly chap.

This is an emergency situation, though. For the time being, all rules go into the discard. What about the post-war period?

Won't it be extremely difficult for democracy to acquiesce in the present Russian politico-economic system as a premanency and to associate with it on that basis?

Or will the Russians flop over democracyward?

Or can the two philosophies parallel one another?

Or, can they merge a little bit, along their edges, and get along together?

If anybody's going to change, I'd think that the Russians would have to.

There's this to be said about 'em:

Happy Medium?

They had a heck of a punk government before their revolution. They switched violently to the opposite extreme. Possibly they can be persuaded to modify it a bit. Its first manifestations of modification probably were excessive.

It'll depend, in all likelihood, upon the democracies' sense of readjustmental proprieties.

The democracies aren't inclined to be critical now, though, of any regime, whatever its character, that's on their side against the Axis fighters. I'm wondering if they'll continue to be just as tolerant after the war's over.

William G Sharp, 63, native of Mt Gilead and former congressman from this district, died at his home in Elyria.

Mrs. Lena Markley North Mulberry street, was injured by flying glass when automobile struck telephone pole.

Son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Raymond McElroy, 53 High street.

Mrs. Cyrus F. Shoup, 50 Orchard street, sustained skull fracture by fall downstairs.

Burglaries were reported by Federal mill, Liberty restaurant and A. W. Bodey store.

Mrs. Peter Werner, 42, died at her home, 317 East Third street.

D. R. Yarnell bought the T. J. Dickerson home, 256 South Main street.

Friends surprised W. E. Stelts, Springmill street, on his birthday anniversary.

TODAY IN HISTORY

First meeting of the United States Congress in Washington, D. C., was held on Nov. 17, 1800. Instead of the stately Pennsylvania Ave., which now connects the Capitol and White House, there was a miry road running across a sluggish creek. The residential part of the city consisted of a few cheerless boarding houses for the accomodations of the members exiled to these wastes from the gay city of Philadelphia. "We need nothing here," wrote Governeur Morris, "but houses, men, women and other little trifles of the kind to make our city perfect."

Health and Diet

War on Tuberculosis Must Continue.

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

DURING the battle of Wagram, Beethoven sat in a cellar in Vienna about 10 miles away and composed one of the movements of the Eroica Symphony. During the French Revolution, Joseph Priestly, in England, although his country was at war with France, conducted a correspondence with the French Chemist, Lavoisier, concerning the structure of certain gases.

When the soldiers of Marcellus found Archimedes in Syracuse, he was in his garden working on the hypotenuse of a right-angled triangle. Charles Martel smashed the infidels at Tours, but one of them, Ibn Razah, was writing his commentaries on the Canon of Avicenna at Cordova. During the battle of Waterloo a young man was studying in the wards of the Necker Hospital in Paris and a year later he invented the stethoscope.

All of which is put down to indicate that wars come and wars go and one side wins and one side loses, but the great tides of civilization sweep on undisturbed, and they are the most important things—not the triumphs of the tupenny captains and diplomats. Man's ordered thought has made only a few halts in its advance from the days of Egypt, and those halts were not due to wars.

Must Keep Gains.

It is one of my deepest convictions that during this present emergency, no matter how urgent the demands for funds for war, we must hold the gains we have made to the permanent happiness of mankind.

Among these specifically is our mounting victory over tuberculosis — one of the worst enemies mankind ever had.

Our statistics for the whole registration area of the United States were completed in 1933. From 1900 to 1933 some of the states admitted had the highest mortality in tuberculosis because they were regarded as resort states where the climate was beneficial to the disease. Yet the recorded tuberculosis mortality in the registration area declined from 174 per 100,000 in 1900 to 42 in 1933.

Steady Decline.

Since 1933 the decline has been proportionately even more rapid. The total number of deaths in 1933 was 67,422 and in 1940, 55,576; and this despite a great gain in actual population.

In the west north central section, embracing seven states, the death rate from tuberculosis was 26 per 100,000 population in 1940.

The growth of institutional cases is shown by the figure that 44 per cent of all tuberculosis deaths now occur in institutions.

This is a gain which mankind cannot afford to let drift. There is every indication that the record can be made better. No matter what the exigencies of war, this country which suffers no destruction of its hospitals must keep up the work, by buying Christmas seals to prevent tuberculosis.

Timely Editorial

Trouble Coming Up.

The prospective "A" card gas rationee tooling along carefully at 35 or a little under to save his meager supply and his tires is going to be a mild character until someone whizzes past him. There's trouble coming up then.

It will be serious trouble if the whizzer is entitled to more gasoline than the plodder. While this is theoretically going to be a matter of law enforcement, in practice it will be a matter of conscience. There never have been enough traffic and highway policemen to keep all motorists in line all the time.

The voluntary control that has been in effect up to now has made it a question of the individual's regard for the safety and freedom of the nation, but there is wide latitude for personal discretion. It goes without saying that when "A" card holder becomes the monitors of the public highways, all other drivers are going to be subject to his critical scrutiny.—Canton Repository.

Interpreting the War News

Nazis Ready for Strong Defense In Europe When Offensive Fails

—By LOUIS F. KEEMLE

THE NUMBER of ships, planes, tanks and men which the Allies have poured into the African campaign make it increasingly evident that Hitler, lacking superiority either at sea or in the air, cannot get sufficient forces across the Mediterranean to stop the avalanche.

As the situation shapes up now he is bound to be forced back on the defensive in southern or western Europe, or both. That raises the question of how well Hitler is equipped to stand his ground and hold the European fort.

The answer seems to be that he has a really powerful army available for European defense but that he is badly handicapped by his awkward position in Russia. He cannot leave a mere holding force there through the winter, as he had planned, and divert a large part of his strength to the west. The alternative would be to accept defeat in Russia and stake everything on holding out in Europe.

There is no question that Hitler can put up a mighty defense in Europe and that he can hold out against a long campaign, barring internal collapse.

In this connection, it is noted by a British war commentator that one of the remarkable features of the war has been the steady swing of advantage to defense and away from attack. The success of the German "hedgehogs" in holding firm against the Russian counter-offensive last winter, says the commentator, evidently has convinced the Germans that similar methods can make their European fortress impregnable against attack.

The United Nations, he holds, must re-establish the superiority of the offensive by devising new methods and combinations of weapons. Gen. B. L. Montgomery did something of the sort in smashing the strong Alamein defense line in Egypt, after which it was merely a process of mopping up.

Hitler apparently intended to establish a similar defense line in Russia so that he could move the bulk of his armies back to Europe. The plan seems to have failed, especially in southern Russia and the Caucasus.

AN INTERESTING breakdown on Germany's armed manpower is provided by Gen. Marian Kukiel, war minister of the Polish government in London. According to what he describes as carefully checked information, the number of men mobilized by Hitler reached the astounding total of 11,000,000. Their disposition Kukiel gives as follows:

Of the total, 4,000,000 have been casualties or prisoners. Of the remaining 7,000,000, some 2,000,000 are believed to be employed in Germany either as garrison troops, security police or skilled workers temporarily released from military duty.

That leaves 5,000,000, of which about 1,000,000 must be in occupied or satellite Europe and Africa. The remaining 4,000,000 should be available to man the vast Russian front. Half of those are needed to guard the rear and man communication lines.

There remains a formidable army of 2,000,000 actively facing the Russians. Kukiel suggests that if it can be pinned down in Russia instead of being transferred to the west, there is a good chance of eventually knocking Hitler out.

Watching Trends

—By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—Wartime Capital:

The recent elections produced some funny ones (both ha-ha and peculiar) but none stranger than the case of Senator Joseph H. Ball, Gov. Stassen's senatorial right-hand in Minnesota.

Senator Ball was appointed by Gov. Stassen in October, 1940, to serve the unexpired term of the late Senator Lundeen. Coming up for re-election, Ball ran for the six-year term which starts in January, 1943, but he didn't run for the period between "the first general election" and the start of his new term. Arthur E. Nelson did and got elected. So Senator-elect Nelson will serve for a month or so and retire then in Senator Ball's favor.

This, of course, won't be any news to the folks in Minnesota, but maybe there's something they don't know. Senator Ball will lose his seniority on six important senate committees. And not only that, when he comes back in January, so far as seniority is concerned, he will be just another "freshman senator."

SOMEBODY ought to pin a home front medal on Steve Vasilakos, the White House corner peanut vendor.

You remember Steve. He's the best known peanut man in the country. He's Greek, with recently acquired citizenship papers of which he is very proud. He's Washington's favorite street corner philosopher. (Probably his greatest observation was made when criticism of the president was running very high. Somebody asked Steve what he thought about things. "That man doesn't tell me how to sell peanuts; why should I tell him how to run the government.")

He is also a patriot who knows how to apply his patriotism. When AHEPA, the Greek society in America, launched a War Bond sales campaign, Steve announced he would give a sack of peanuts free with every bond bought from him.

THE crowds around his stand on The White House corner got so thick that the Secret Service started an investigation. It was discovered Steve didn't have a license to peddle War Bonds on the street. That didn't stop Steve. He got a license a couple of days later and was back at the old stand for "business as usual."

Then Steve became ill and had to go to Emergency hospital. But that didn't stop Steve either. Friends over the country and in Washington heard about it. They started mailing in orders for bonds. With the help of a pretty, dark-haired secretary, lent him by AHEPA, Steve is still doing business—and big.

NEW YORK—Cleaning out the icebox on meatless Tuesday: The Hotel St. Regis serves pre-theater dinners, the head waiter warning you when it's time to leave to catch the curtain. Baritone Conrad Thibault's song, "A Soldier of De Gaulle," may become the anthem of the Fighting French. When Thibault sang it recently at the Town Hall, Free French in the audience stood up en masse. Forty members of the Center theater staff have joined the armed forces since July 2 when "Stars On Ice" had its opening. More than 600,000 service men have attended the American Theater Wing's original Stage Door Canteen since it opened March 2, according to Jane Cowl and Selena Royle, co-chairmen.

A poll taken among musicians in the bands of Harry James, Charlie Barnet and Louis Prima shows their favorite bands are those of Jimmie Lunceford and Duke Ellington. When Lunceford's band was polled, the vote went to Ellington. Returns aren't in from the Ellington band poll.

FOR an exceptional bit of press-agentry, read this from Jean Dalrymple's office:

"The Alex Yokel entry in the Broadway Handicap, 'Three Men on a Horse,' got off to a fair start in its comeback campaign. Due to the filly's age, however, she was unable to make the grade, despite the fact that she broke the barrier to the cheers of the critics, who thought she was better today that in her prime back in 1935. The old girl tried to meet the challenge of the field of 28, but faded fast in the backstretch, chalking up the poor time of 28 performances as compared with her record of 835."

Such brilliance, however, is rare. One the same day I got a handout which read in part: "Mr. Y's many friends wish him all success in his new position."

"Keep Your Powder Dry."

Mohammed used to exhort his followers:

"Put your trust in God, but tie your camel."

Cromwell, equally pious, never let reliance upon spiritual strength dull his earthy appreciation of the handiness of the tools of war being every-ready.

"Put your trust in God," he, too, adjured his soldiers while crossing a stream, "but mind to keep your powder dry."

Businesslike advice in his turbulent times, it is more than ever what any doctor would order today.

A Farmer's Diary

Criticism

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

MY WIFE criticizes me. For nearly seventeen years now, it has been so. Our farm cooperative leaflet said, this week that "when a woman no longer criticizes her husband, she is a widow." So I suspect that other men have had the same thing happen.

I have met some farmers—and keen men, too—who believe that a wife had better criticize her husband than anyone else. One of my friends confided that in their home the argument got so hot that he was forced to confess facts that he should not have known. "I said I'd have to go right away and look after the stock," he said. "But even before I had got to the barn, I was sore at myself that I hadn't waited to hear what she had to say. The cows and the sheep and the hogs were so meek and still that the barn was too quiet. So I went back in good natured, and took what was coming to me and liked it."

My wife is experienced as a guide.

Often when I write this column, and have used an hour or more of my valuable time, I read it to her. She listens without a word, but I know by the tenseness of the atmosphere if she disapproves. "What did you mean by so-and-so?" she will ask. And when I try to explain, I find that my original phrases did not tell what was in my mind. Or "That's too highfalutin," she will say. "Use simpler words, so even I can get the drift." If the whole thing is just too bad, into the waste-basket with it, and—if sometimes she says, "That's good," it means that most of you will like it.

If we attend a community gathering where I am asked to speak, she will judge the good and bad points of my remarks on our homeward trip, and tell me how I might improve.

I am sure that when my wife does not offer criticism any more, I shall have become, to her, like any other common man she might have married. And I praise the Lord that time is still a long way off!

I REALLY didn't think she'd let this by. She fooled me again—with the remark that now they'd know what she'd saved them from! A woman will have the last word—bless 'er heart!

RIDERS ESCAPE

Child 'Drivers' Involved In Accidents at Bucyrus.

BUCYRUS — Three automobile mishaps on city streets caused damages to cars involved but did not result in injury to passengers Monday.

One accident at Warren and Walnut streets placed the driver of one of the cars, Paul Phillips, Bucyrus, in city jail on a drunken driving charge. The other car involved was driven by John Treisch of Galion.

Cars driven by Wayne Healy, Mansfield street, and Virgil Graber, rural resident, were damaged in a collision on North Sandusky avenue.

In a third accident, reported to the police department over the week-end, a car which went out of control when children started the car in a garage, went over a low concrete wall and over a curbing and came to rest against the Norton school building. The car, which belonged to Howard Albright, Gay street, was badly damaged. The children were uninjured.

DOUBLE RING CEREMONY READ AT MARRIAGE IN CRESTLINE

CRESTLINE—Calvary Reformed church was decorated with palms, baskets of white chrysanthemums and two seven branched candelabra for the wedding of Miss Blanche Farber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Farber, West Main street and Fred C. Cary, jr., of Shelby which occurred Saturday morning at 9:30.

Rev. W. L. Margard, pastor of the church officiated using the double ring ceremony. Preceding the ceremony a half hour program of nuptial music was played by the church organist, Miss Marian Libens and included "Indian Love Call," "At Dawning," "Sweetest Story Ever Told," and "Oh, Promise Me."

The traditional wedding marches were also used as the bridal party assembled and for the recessional.

Attending the couple were Miss Barbara Cary of Sandusky, sister of the groom and Dean Walker of Shelby. Ushers were Burton Hoover, brother-in-law of the bride and Clement Chandler of Galion.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in a gown of white slipper satin made with sweetheart neckline trimmed in lace inserts and seed pearls, self covered buttons fastened down the back from neck to waist and leg a mutton sleeves ended in points at the wrists. The gown had a slight train and her finger tip veil was caught in a tiarra of seed pearls. Her bridal bouquet was of Killarney roses and baby's breath.

Her only jewelry was a double strand of pearls a gift of the bridegroom. A powder blue taffeta and beaded faille frock was worn by her maid of honor, she had matching accessories, silver slippers and wore a gold locket a gift of the bride. Johanna Hill roses and baby's breath fashioned her bouquet.

Both mothers wore black dresses with black accessories and corsages of Johanna Hill roses.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at Hotel Talbott in Galion. Covers were placed for 24 and a three tiered cake decorated the table.

WATCHMAN HURT AT CROSSING

CRESTLINE—Henry Simmermacher, 50, crossing watchman at the Big Four railway crossing at Bucyrus street received cuts and bruises about his arms and legs and is suffering from shock following an accident Saturday evening.

Simmermacher was guarding the crossing for a southbound train when he was struck by an auto driven by H. L. Bailey of Patterson street.

The watchman was treated at the office of a local physician and was later removed to his home at 120 Pierce street.

SHELBY COUNCIL APPROVES EXTRA WATER PROGRAM

Accepts Details Outlined By Wierman For Impounding Waters of Black Fork.

SHELBY — Plans to use the Black Fork river as a source of water supply to supplement the city wells as presented by Boyd Wierman of Mansfield, city engineer, were approved by city council Monday night.

The project will cost approximately $23,000 and will be started as soon as the plans are approved by the state board of health.

Construction of a six-foot, 59-foot wide, submersed dam across the Black Fork river at the Tucker avenue bridge will impound about 1,200,000 gallons of water. During nine months of the year, this water will be pumped over a 5,700, 12-inch pipeline to the Municipal Water company.

A chlorinator will be added to the equipment at the water plant to purify the river water. The present water softening system will also be used.

Under the plans as presented by Wierman, the river would only be tapped during the nine colder months of the year, holding the well supply for when the river was at a low flow. The dam will be put on the river above any pollution from within the city limits which will exclude factory wastes.

City officials estimate that the dam will only cut off the flow of the river during the warm weather periods and that small streams below the dam area will feed the river during the entire year. The Black Fork drains an area of approximately 20 square miles south of Shelby, it was pointed out, which gives an average flow of about 700,000 gallons daily. Average consumption from the water company's 2,100 consumers is about 1,000,000 gallons per day.

Mayor W. R. Morris complimented the citizens in the city for cutting down the consumption of water during the past week. City officials had called on water users to cut their consumption of water due to the critical water shortage in Shelby.

The council approved the borrowing of $25,000 from the Municipal Electric company funds to finance the project which will be done by WPA labor and city employes. It is expected to be completed in about 10 weeks after the go ahead signal is given by the state health department.

J. P. Adkins, superintendent of the municipal utilities, presented a request from the outside crews of the Municipal Water and Electric companies asking for a 15 per cent raise to take care of the increase in the cost of living. The council instructed Law Director Frank Long to investigate to find out whether a blanket raise could be given city employes here without interferring with the wage laws. He will report at a later meeting.

OPEN FARMS

Game Protective Group Will Permit Hunting on Land.

BUCYRUS — Mt. Zion Game Protective association for the fifth consecutive season, will offer its farms in the southwest section of the county for hunting, members announced today.

Landowners in this section have offered controlled hunting on their farms at an association, for a small fee for five years. Fees are used for feeding, protection of game and patrolling of the area by a game warden employed by the association.

Last year 186 hunters were issued permits to hunt in the area.

SHE SINGS WITH HER LIPS TAPED

BUCYRUS—Mrs. Ralph Schreck, entertainer who only in the last few years discovered her talent in speaking with her lips closed, was to appear in an hour and 15 minute program in Shiloh school this afternoon under the sponsorship of the Hi-Y club and Girl Reserves of the school.

Included in the program will be songs with closed lips and with lips taped; a one act skit in which the entertainer will depict five characters with lips closed and change of voice and a humorous puppet act with Janie and Jimmy.

GUEST SPEAKER AT CRESTLINE

Dr. Margaret Hantel Gives Talk Before Faculty of City's Schools.

CRESTLINE — Dr. Margaret Hantel of the department of education, Ohio university at Athens, was guest speaker before two different groups while in Crestline over the week-end.

At a luncheon meeting of the faculty of Crestline schools, held in the school cafeteria Friday at 1 p. m., Dr. Hantel spoke on "Community Needs in Education."

Dr. R. B. Smith was in charge of the meeting and introduced the speaker. At the conclusion of her talk Miss Sylvia Zwelling, teacher in the South school, presented her with a corsage and gift from the faculty.

That same afternoon she was a guest at the Lay Health guest tea held at the home of Mrs. J. B. McCarter. Her talk dealt with "Community Needs in Terms of Health." A general discussion followed. A movie on the Wilson Dam school in Tennessee was shown at both meetings by Dr. Smith.

Miss Margaret Marquart played two violin solos. She was accompanied by Mrs. Gregg Pennington.

Mrs. McCarter, president of the Lay Health group, presided, and extended welcome to the guests. When tea was served Mrs. R. B. Smith poured.

Dr. Hantel was the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Smith while in Crestline.

WINS CONTEST

BUCYRUS — Winner of first place and the bronze medal at the Bucyrus Prince of Peace contest held in First Methodist church Sunday night was Robert Hughes, 214 West Mary street. Hughes had as his topic "After the End."

BURMA ROAD-American Style

China called it the Burma Road.

Every time Jap airmen gave it a pasting, the women, children, and old men of China patched it together again—often with their bare hands.

They knew that as long as they could keep it open their men at the front would have guns and ammunition to fight with.

America, too, has a "Burma Road"—not one which has been patched together by hand, but a 236,000-mile modern streamlined railroad system that knits together the 48 states and links the railroads of Canada, Mexico, and Central America. Over this lifeline of ours men, materials, supplies, and munitions are today rolling swiftly to war.

The railroads' two years' increase in freight traffic (mid-1942 compared with pre-war mid-1940) was 79% and in passenger traffic 106%. In the last nine months alone, the Erie and other American railroads carried 8,000,000 service men to their military destinations.

The significance to you of this amazing achievement is that it proves America has a weapon the Axis can't match—a system of rail transportation capable of provisioning our people at home, supplying our troops in the field, furnishing transportation for lend-lease supplies, and shifting our forces from one strategic point to another. It's a system which will be ready and waiting to take on the peacetime job of helping to rebuild the world.

Bundling Sets Headline Styles

BUNDLES FOR MISS AMERICA: Just like grandmother used to wear are these warm wool scarfs designed by Glensder to chase the chill from heat-rationing.

By DOROTHY ROE
(Wide World Fashion Editor)

Those family-album pictures of when grandmother was a girl aren't so funny any more. Grandma's fashions are making headlines these days, as heat rationing and wartime priorities send our once scantily-clad modern misses scurrying for flannel nightgowns and woolly "bundling clothes."

This winter it's smart to bundle up, and choose your wardrobe for warmth. Woolen stockings will be seen on some of the best-dressed legs this season, as silks and nylons disappear. Red flannels will graduate from the winter sports class to everyday wear, as office and apartment building heat is reduced. Woolen scarfs, hug-me-tights and fascinators, all favorites of grandmother's day, are back with a bang.

A sensation of the New York fall openings was the bundling turban introduced by Lilly Dache, a woolen stocking cap with a long end to be twisted around the head or wrapped around the neck according to your fancy and the weather.

Top-flight designers are showing wool shirts and jumpers, little extra quilted jackets, even fur lounging slacks for added warmth in heat-rationed homes.

The scarf business is booming, with woolens away out in front. There are scarf-hoods to keep your ears warm, big brushed wool numbers almost the size of a blanket to wrap around your shoulders, divers versions of grandma's lacy woolen fascinator.

This year it's Bundling for America!

MARRIAGES REVEALED BY MANSFIELDERS

Doris Stafford Tells Friends of Exchanging Vows With C. Hammond; Idella Eberhart Weds Pvt. Laird.

MISS DORIS STAFFORD was one of the two Mansfield women who announced their marriages yesterday when an announcement party was held by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Stafford, 115 West Dickson avenue, to tell friends of her marriage to Chadwick Hammond of Huron.

Vows were exchanged at Napoleon on Aug. 2, with Justice of the Peace George Rafferty, jr., officiating. The new Mrs. Hammond told her guests that she had chosen a black and white ensemble for the affair and had worn a corsage of gardenias.

At the party the wedding was revealed when Miss Betty Druschel was sent on a treasure hunt which ended in her finding the marriage bonds which were read to the group of girls.

A graduate of Mansfield Senior high school, the bride is employed at the Red Robin dress shop and the bridegroom, son of Mrs. Helen Hammond, Huron, is a graduate of Huron high school, now being employed by the Badger Construction company in Sandusky.

After learning of the marriage the group was entertained with dancing. Luncheon was served at small tables centered with vases of rose buds.

Married Oct. 31.

Another local woman, Idella Eberhart, daughter of J. A. Copeland, 523 Louise avenue, today told of her marriage to Pvt. Russell D. Laird, son of Mrs. O. L. Laird, 148 North Mulberry street which was solemnized Oct. 31 at Golfport, Miss., at the Baptist parsonage with Rev. Henry T. Brookshire reading the service.

For the occasion the bride was dressed in a tan and dark brown ensemble.
